File Deadline For Primary Is March 24

Candidates seeking their party's nomination in the June 7 primary election have until March 24 to file petitions with the Pickaway County Board of Elections, according to Nancy Badgely, director.

Positions available in the primary include President of Circleville City Council, treasurer of the city, Municipal Court Judge, three councilmen-at-large posts, and four councilmen vacancies.

If there is a contested race for any of the posts among persons of the same political party, an election will be held. Otherwise, the candidates will have their names placed directly on the November ballot without a vote.

Candidates for Judge of the Circleville Municipal Court must have the signatures of 50 registered voters on their petitions, which can contain no more than 150 names.

Candidates for the other positions must have at least 25 signatures of registered voters from no more than 125 names.

Voters must declare their party preference before voting in the Primary election.

Current office-holders and their declared party affiliations are:

Joseph F. Bell, president of council, Republican; Everett P. Stocklen, treasurer, Democrat; O. Charles Hosterman, Municipal Court Judge, Republican.

Others are:

Councilmen-At-Large - David Crawford, Democrat; Glen Stephen Jones and Tommy M. Wells, Republican.

Councilmen - David Goldschmidt, first ward, Republican; John W. Jenkins, second ward, Democrat; Harold Hoffman, third ward, Democrat; and Dixie L. Watters, fourth ward, Republican.

Filing deadline for the November off-year election is Aug. 10 for members of village councils, Boards of Public Affairs, and Township Trustees, and Aug. 25 for members of the County, Circleville, Teays Valley, Westfall, and Logan Elm Boards of Education.

Tornadoes Pound Southeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A line of thunderstorms pushed across the Southeastern states Wednesday night producing tornadoes, hail and high winds.

One tornado fatality was reported near Louisville, Miss., about 50 miles southwest of Columbus, Miss. Three other tornadoes struck in Alabama. Preliminary reports indicated no extensive damage or injuries.

A tornado watch was in effect through dawn for much of Georgia, the Florida panhandle and extreme Southeast Alabama.

In all 10 confirmed tornadoes were reported, five in Mississippi.

While the Southeast was having its problems with severe thunderstorms, the North Central area was plagued by severe winter weather.

Snow, mixed with rain in some areas, was widespread from the Northern Plains across the upper Mississippi Valley into the upper Great Lakes region.

International Falls, Minn., recorded five inches of snow in 6 hours. Two inches was measured at Aberdeen, S.D.

Winter storm warnings continued early today across eastern South Dakota, northern Wisconsin, most of Minnesota, Upper Michigan and northern Lower Michigan.

Travel advisories were in effect early today for hazardous driving conditions due to snow in eastern Nebraska, southeast North Dakota and northwest Iowa.

Rain continued across much of the central Pacific Coast early today with snow extending from the Sierra Nevada Mountains of California into the central Intermountain Region. Travelers advisories for snow continued across much of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, northern Nevada and northern Utah.

Mild weather continued across the eastern U.S. with today's early morning temperatures in the 50s and 60s extending from the Southeastern states into the Middle Atlantic Coast states and the Ohio River valley.

The mild weather combined with the threat of heavy rain caused flash flood watches to be posted across western North Carolina, most of West Virginia and for several western Pennsylvania rivers.

Temperatures at 2 a.m., EST, ranged from seven below zero at Limestone, Maine, to 74 at Key West, Fla.

Rain brought the threat of flooding to snow-laden western New York and the promise of water to thirsty southern California, but officials said only the bad news was for real.

Temperatures in the 50s — and more rain — were forecast for the Buffalo area today, and the National Weather Service issued a flash flood watch, based on the threat of ice jams. The service said six streams were on the brink of overflowing.

The Army Corps of Engineers shipped sandbags to riverfront areas in Erie, Chautauque, Genesee, Niagara and Orleans counties and said bulldozers would be available to deal with ice in shallow water.

The weather service said melting snow — up to 25 inches left from this winter's record snowfall — could add the equivalent of seven inches of rain to any downpour in warm weather.

The light rain that teased drought-stricken areas of California — about two-tenths of an inch in Los Angeles — was more welcome but less consequential, officials said.

National Weather Service forecaster Bill Hackle said that while the Pacific storm that came in Wednesday normally would be followed by others, a high-pressure system was developing that probably would block them off.

"From all indications, this is just about it," Hackle said. "There's no rain in the three-day outlook" after today.

Heavy snow continued in northern California. It meant new life for the skiing industry there, but its effect on the watershed areas that feed the southern areas was difficult to calculate. It was of no immediate help to the south.

In Salem, Ore., Gov. Bob Straub said "It would take 1½ feet of snow every day in the next 40 days to bring the snowpack in the mountains to normal."

He asked the legislature to approve a cloud-seeding plan and a $30 million appropriation for drought expenses.

Congress Favors Economic Stimulus; Questions Remain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heavy majorities in both houses of Congress are now on record in favor of tax cuts and increased federal spending to boost the economy. The next question is how to do it.

First the Senate, on a 72-20 roll call, and next the House, 239 to 169, voted to amend the budget for the current fiscal year to allow tax reductions and spending hikes. But those votes did not commit the lawmakers to any specific plan to prime the economy.

However, the House, before amending the budget on Wednesday to allow a stimulus plan of up to $16.4 billion, indicated it prefers a one-shot rebate plan, such as the $50 per person advocated by President Carter, instead of a permanent tax cut.

By a vote of 258 to 148, the House rejected a Republican plan to reduce individual tax rates permanently by 15 per cent. The GOP, led by Rep. John Rousselot of California, argued that the nation has persistently high unemployment because "excessive tax rates ... deter employment and investment."

Democrats called the GOP tax plan a classic example of the trickle-down theory of economics in which money spent by the wealthy is expected to eventually benefit low-income workers.

The House budget amendment of $16.4 billion compares to $15.5 billion that Carter recommended and $17.2 billion approved by the Senate.

There are two key differences between the House and Senate versions:

—The House plan envisions tax rebates or cuts for taxpayers and special bonuses to nontaxpayers totaling $12.7 billion, compared to $13.8

billion in the Senate. The House version accounts for changes in the Carter tax plan already approved by the Ways and Means Committee.

—The House added $215 million more than the Senate in special aid to help offset tax revenues lost by states, cities and counties because of the lagging economy and bad weather. The House plan totals $1 billion, a figure that reportedly is supported by Carter.

In addition to the tax cuts and special aid to state and local governments, here is how the plan envisioned by a majority of the House would work over the next seven months:

—$700 million for public-service jobs, such as in hospitals and jails. The aim is to expand from the current limit of 310,000 jobs to 600,000 over the next seven months and to 725,000 in 1978. Carter and the Senate recommended the same amount.

—$60 million for the job-opportunities program, which involves 12-month jobs on local economic-development projects funded partly by the federal government. Neither Carter nor the Senate recommended this.

—$500 million more to start construction on such publicworks projects as schools and hospitals, the same as approved by the Senate. Carter asked for only $200 million more.

—$600 million for special employment training and jobs targeted for young and old Americans, who are hardest hit by unemployment. The Senate figure is the same; Carter asked for only $300,000.

—$800 million for construction of antipollution and recreation facilities and railroad and highway construction. The Senate approved the same amount; Carter made no such request.

ICE JAM — Huge chunks of ice blocked Laurel Run just above the village of Laurelville. Remembering recent floods, village residents were hoping the ice would melt and be clear of the creek before any heavy rainfall.

Details Of Bed Patient Section Discussed By Hospital Board

By ANDI PORTER
Herald Staff Writer

Changes in the internal structure of the new Berger Hospital building were reviewed by the board of governors during Wednesday evening's meeting. Also, discussions were held on health planning guidelines, special care training, the Emergency Medical Team, malpractice insurance and the sale of bonds.

Charles Rideout, hospital administrator, reported that a limited amount of carpet will be used on the first floor of the new building. After reviewing the plans with Architect Dan Carmichael, Rideout eliminated carpeting from the gift shop, several offices and most of it from the waiting room area. The floors will be covered with terrazzo. Rideout noted that although there are no immediate savings, maintenance and future replacement charges would be expensive.

The window glass used on the building will be long, narrow, thermal or dual pane. This will allow for a lot of exposure without running up fuel costs.

Other changes discussed dealt with basement facilities. Because state funds are involved with the Mental Health Clinic, the seven offices along the west wall will not be finished. Electrical connections, tile and drains will be installed so it can be used later for mental health purposes.

According to the architect, the present maternity waiting room, cannot be restored because the design would not match the building to be constructed. It was his idea to convert one of the present patient rooms into a waiting room. The board foresees problems with this plan because of admittance, reception and control problems. No final decision has been made on the issue.

There are 150 parking spaces in the front of the building, with additional spaces in the back. Carmichael told the administrator that the program is still on target for bid advertising in May.

Mid Ohio Health Planning Agency has divided its area into three sections, Northern, Central and Southern districts. Berger Hospital falls under the southern group with five other counties.

The southern planning committee must have three representatives from each hospital to coordinate the area. Rideout was given permission to select two other people to attend these meetings with him. The mediators must be strong negotiators with considerable knowledge about the hospital's needs.

Rideout reported to the board that nurse training for the special care section started Monday. Classes are held for five weeks, on Mondays and Wednesdays. Eleven registered nurses attended, below the expected number. The administrator said that unless all of these nurses pledge to work weekly in the unit, that additional classes must be held to get the help needed.

With the qualified teacher's instruction they will be certified as coronary nurses at the end of the training period. Rideout said not all of the nurses attending were hospital employees.

Don Greenlee, Circleville Emergency Medical Squad president, updated the board on the team's operation. One hundred hours of basic training is necessary, 35 persons have completed 40 additional hours and another 22 persons are taking the same emergency cardiac care training at the present time. He said the team has had good cooperation with the emergency room staff and does get corrective criticism which is appreciated. Greenlee added that as far as he can tell, the reception the team has with the medical staff has been fine.

Greenlee told the board that the team needs more observation time in the hospital. He said the time the team spends waiting for emergency runs

Club. Baum, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Baum, and Miss Caldwell, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Caldwell were the recipients of the Youth Service Awards from the Pickaway Plains LaSertoma Clubs. Miss Hawkes, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Hawkes, and Yeatts, the son of Mrs. Hazel Yeatts, received their Youth Service Awards from the Circleville LaSertoma Club. The chicken and ham buffet banquet was held at the Colony House Restaurant Wednesday evening.

Electrical Service Disrupted

Wind gusts of between 35 to 40 miles an hour tore down power lines and disrupted electrical service in the eastern part of the county early Thursday morning.

According to reports at the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department, an electrical line was down on the Tarlton Road east of Route 23 at 5:32 a.m. and a line broke on the South Bloomfield-Royalton Road 6:06 a.m.

The Harrison Twp. Fire Department was summoned to the South Bloomfield-Royalton Road when the downed electric line caught several trees on fire.

The fire fighters allowed the blaze to burn itself out, Deputy Jim Fite said. At 5:53 a.m., strong wind gusts blew a 10-foot by 14-foot patio roof off the 1135 Route 674 home of Delbert Sherman.

The roof and two wrought iron posts were blown into the back yard, according to Deputy Terry Frazier, and two vertical strips of aluminum siding on the house were peeled away from the structure.

According to reports, South Central Power Company customers in the central eastern part of the county were without electrical service early this morning.

However, the exact area affected or the nature of the outage have not been released by SCP officials.

Weather

Windy with showers and a chance of thundershowers today and a high in the upper 50s. Cloudy tonight with a low near 40. Partly cloudy Friday with temperatures in the middle 50s. Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pulled back today, continuing the slow decline that began a week ago.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped more than a point in the early going. Losers took a 4-3 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the market was still troubled by inflation worries. Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board warned Wednesday that business confidence had been hurt by fears that increased government spending would create added inflationary pressures.

Burns also said he wasn't optimistic about chances for reducing the inflation rate this year.

Today's early prices included Sony, up 1/4 at 9 1/2; Avon Products, down 1/4 at 45; and Exxon, off 1/4 at 50 1/2.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average gave up 1.66 to 938.25. Losers outnumbered gainers by about a 4-3 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume totalled 18.24 million shares, against 17.73 million on Tuesday.

The NYSE's composite index lost .15 to 54.50.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .23 at 111.84.

Gas Crisis Remains Despite Nice Weather

By TOM GILLEM
Associated Press Writer

"What energy shortage?" asked the grocery sack boy in Columbus whose employer cut operating hours to conserve energy last month but started opening 24 hours a day again this week.

With temperatures warmer, gas supplies less critical, layoffs fewer and schools planning to reopen soon, some Ohioans may believe energy-related problems are over.

But officials monitoring problems caused by Ohio's worst winter on record know the situation hasn't ended, despite this week's spring-like weather. Looking ahead to March, they say the trend back to normal conditions still depends on one undependable factor—the weather.

"The National Weather Service is predicting 'below normal temperatures' for the next 30 days," Chuck Morris of the state energy emergency management committee said Wednesday. "But that could be one degree, a half-degree or 15 degrees below normal."

Milder weather in recent weeks, coupled with emergency gas purchases and public conservation efforts, has allowed Columbia Gas of Ohio to ease curtailments for many businesses and industries beginning March 1. Alternate fuel sources are also more available, officials say.

William Costello, energy liaison for the Ohio Manufacturers Association said Wednesday his reports indicate most Ohioans laid off because of the energy crisis are going back to work.

"If we can get a week or two of pretty good weather where the temperature doesn't get down in the teens and single digit numbers, we would be in pretty good shape," Costello said.

Dr. John Hug, energy coordinator for the State Department of Education, said many school districts plan to return to classes soon, although accurate figures are unavailable.

But Hug said some districts still find themselves in trouble because they ran over winter allocations and into summer allocations, which begin March 1 for some gas utilities and later for others.

"So it's still every man for himself, trying to do the best he can," Hug said, adding that districts such as Upper Arlington, Worthington and those in Stark County are buying gas from independent producers in an effort to get operations back to normal.

At the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, officials are keeping a wary eye on gas supplies and the weather while they look beyond this winter heating season to next winter.

"The picture is not very clear at this point," John Barrows, PUCO's director of utilities, said of the outlook past February.

"It's highly probable that there will be some subsequent curtailment in the summer period to assure that the storage fields will be refilled by next winter."

How much curtailment there will be after this month depends on how much gas can be found and bought, how cold the public conserves and how cold it is this spring, he said.

Deaths

MRS. EMMA LUCILLE DOWNING

Mrs. Emma Lucille Downing, 74, of 167 Palm Lake Village, Dunedin, Florida, died 2:55 a.m., Wednesday in Berger Hospital. She was a former resident of Chillicothe.

Born July 14, 1902, at Waite Station, Ohio, she was the daughter of Christian and Anna Miller Sauer.

She was preceded in death by her husband Norman Downing in 1974.

Survivors include two sisters, Miss Nellie Sauer, Portsmouth, Mrs. Chester (Clara) Riley, Chillicothe; several nieces and nephews, including Mrs. Harriet Riser, Circleville.

Funeral service will be held 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Defenbaugh-Wise Funeral Home, with the Rev. Raymond Welch officiating.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 2-4 and 7-9 Saturday. Cremation will follow.

MR. CHARLES E. REID

Mr. Charles E. Reid, 88, of 401 N. Long St., Ashville, died Wednesday evening at Circleville Manor Nursing Home.

Born Dec. 8, 1889 at Pickaway County, he was the son of Francis and Sarah Wilson Reid.

Survivors include his widow Mary; one brother Herbert Reid, Corning; nieces and nephews.

Funeral service will be 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the Bastain Funeral Home, Ashville, the Rev. John Currens officiating. Burial will be in Reber Hill Cemetery, Ashville.

Friends may call at the funeral home 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. Friday.

LT. NILE KRAFT

Burial service for Lt. Nile Kraft, 29, who died Tuesday when his plane crashed near El Centro, Calif., will be held 10:30 a.m. Monday at Arlington National Cemetery.

Survivors include his widow, Cathy Griner Kraft, 508 Chanterelle Drive, Pensacola, Fla.

Farm Land Plan Sought By Grange

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Grange told Congress today that all necessary steps should be taken to stop "institutional giants" from buying up prime farm land under the kind of plan advocated by a group of Chicago financiers.

Other individuals and farm groups also prepared to seek federal support to block the plan, called Land Fund I by its promoters, Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Co. and the national brokerage firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith.

The plan involves the purchase initially of $50 million worth of farm land through a mutual fund arrangement enabling investments by pension funds and other tax-exempt institutions. In turn, the land will be leased to farmers for the production of crops.

Robert M. Frederick, legislative director of the Grange, said in remarks prepared for a House Agriculture subcommittee "this fund is only the beginning" and that if successful other plans will follow.

"If this fund is approved without question, farmers will receive more and more competition for available farm land from additional farm investment funds," Frederick said.

"Farmers will also be competing against a cash capital supply they have no hope to match."

"The fund will purchase seed, fertilizer, machinery and other needs for the farms with fund money instead of on credit, and they will also be exempt from paying income taxes on the profits from their operations."

Clean Air Rule Wins Wide Support

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A new federal law, which allows an industry into a city only if it cleans up as much pollution as it makes, seems to be winning tentative support from local governments as well as environmentalists.

At a hearing conducted by the Environmental Protection Agency on Wednesday, both the California League of Cities and the Sierra Club gave grudging approval to the regulation, which is in effect but still being studied by the EPA.

Irene Weinreb, mayor of suburban Hayward, spoke for the cities' group and expressed confidence that the rule would help industry break out of the "economic doldrums."

She emphasized, however, that the League of Cities still is concerned that pollution restraints will deter economic expansion.

The mayor asked for increased "understanding and accommodation of industry's needs, including the attempt to make environmental constraints realistic."

Meanwhile, Carl Pope of the Sierra Club said, "We're not upset that the EPA is developing this policy. It's an attempt to deal with the real problem of under what circumstances do you allow expansion."

However, he added, new industries ought to be expected "to offset emissions on a significantly better than one-to-one basis." He urged the EPA to adopt a detailed plan for how much pollution is to be cut.

Old Foundry Busy Making Wood Stoves

By JULES LOH
AP Special Correspondent

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — One man's blizzard is another man's ski weekend.

Or: If there be justice in the land, this harshest winter since the glaciers receded ought also to be expected to deliver at least some consolation prize to somebody somewhere, and it has.

John Pozorycki's foundry finds no longer. In fact it is going full tilt, turning out old-fashioned cast iron wood burning stoves like they were, um, going out of style.

Forgetting the recession, this foundry hasn't known such prosperity since the Great Depression. Something to think about.

"I'm sure the energy crisis and the hard winter have much to do with it," John Pozorycki said. "But even before the oil shortage our orders were up. People seem to be returning to things of proven substance and value, and there's something solid and comforting about a good wood stove."

There also is something solid and comforting, if not ironic, about a century-old stove foundry, using methods and patterns unchanged over the years, struggling to keep up with demand for a product considered obsolete two decades ago.

When it comes to cast iron wood stoves, John Pozorycki is an incurable romantic. The bustle rattling the old handhewn rafters at the Portland Stove Foundry was not really what he expected when he took over the company two years ago.

"I was just looking for some place to go in Maine," he said. "I was 60. The children were grown and married, and I had had enough of traveling all over the place as a consulting engineer."

"Something I always remembered away from home was the old wood stove in the house where I grew up in Weymouth, Mass. I remembered the warmth of the kitchen."

"When I had a chance to buy into this foundry, I grabbed it."

The foundry, for its first 93 years, had been the property of three generations of a family named Lawrence. Then it fell on hard times — coal, gas, electricity for heating — and went through a succession of owners until Pozorycki took over.

The foundry turns out Franklin stoves, parlor stoves, box stoves ("We called them schoolhouse stoves when I was a boy"), each part fashioned from molds made from honest sand shipped from Albany, N.Y., just as the original Lawrence fashioned them 100 years ago.

And somewhere in a woebegone shed, the pattern room, a room kept locked, are the 150 patterns for the foundry's original pride and joy, the Queen Atlantic range.

In 1909, by company records, the Queen fetched $65, five down and a dollar a week. Today it will go for something over $1,200.

"We're going to make the Queen again in quantity," John Pozorycki said. "I don't believe you could duplicate those patterns today, all that scrollwork and the cherubs and the decorations. Pattern makers just don't seem to have that artistry anymore."

Will artistry and craftsmanship, in the end, win out after all?

Will grandma's Queen Atlantic kitchen range become the dependable successor to the microwave oven?

Hang in there, John Pozorycki.

remind all persons engaged in business on December 31, 1976, including manufacturers, merchants, contractors, physicians, dentists, attorneys and accountants that they are required to file personal property tax returns with their county auditor, on or before April 30, 1977, and report all inventories, supplies, equipment, fixtures, and machinery used in business. Every person who rents furnished rooms or furnished apartments must file a personal property tax return, listing the furniture, fixtures, and equipment included in rental facilities.

Your county auditor also reminds you that all Ohio residents owning investments, such as shares of stock, corporate bonds, municipal bonds, mortgage notes, or land contracts, are required to file personal property tax returns as such property is taxable whether or not used in business.

You may obtain tax blanks and assistance in the preparation of the return at the office of your county auditor and you are also reminded that there are penalties in addition to the tax if you fail to file your return within the time prescribed.

Deputy Searches For Tire Thief

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Jim Deal is continuing his search for the driver of a van, who apparently took two tires from the Quality Farm and Fleet Store, Route 23 South, 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Witnesses said the driver of the van pulled his vehicle near a pile of used tires and tossed two of the tires inside before driving away.

The tires are valued at $10. The registrations and titles of two vehicles were stolen from the glove box of a car owned by Terry Crumley, 4565 Bell Station Road.

Crumley's car was parked at the Atlanta School from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Wednesday.

Nothing else in the vehicle appeared to have been taken, according to Deputy Sheriff Billy Huffman.

OWN A PIECE OF AMERICA

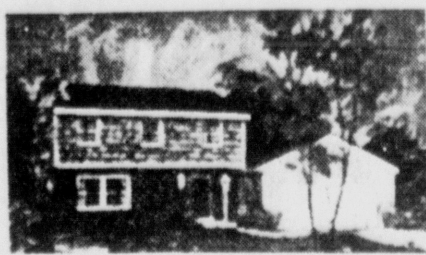

Let Lowe's help you turn your dream home in to a Homestead®. . . that's one way we can work together to build a better America.

Riviera

Mansard roof, cedar shake siding, vertical casement windows, and wrought iron trim combine to give the Riviera that Continental flavor. With 1930 sq. ft., this is a very spacious home; enough room for three big bedrooms and two full baths on the second floor; enough room for a dining room, living room, 1/2 bath, laundry, large family room with fireplace and a kitchen downstairs.

Plan #LH-108 $21,719.

Puritan

A large two-story home with plenty of flexibility. The front entry is enhanced by a beautiful colonial stairway. On the first floor are a spacious living room, dining room, kitchen, laundry, family room, and 1/2 bath. Upstairs are four bedrooms with a full main bathroom and a full bath off the master bedroom. Big two-car garage with entrance through the laundry. 1836 sq. ft. heated living space.

Plan #LH-118 $17,974.

Farmington

Classic good looks of Colonial styling all the space you'd ever want . . . plenty of special features . . . that's the Farmington. Four bedrooms upstairs featuring a full main bath and a gigantic master bedroom with its own private bath and a whopping walk-in closet. Living room, dining room, kitchen, family room, laundry, 1/2 bath and extra closet space downstairs. You have to see this 2254 sq. ft. plan to believe it.

Plan #LH-119 $21,880.

Settler

Designed inside and out for vacation or weekend living, the Settler is a beauty. Exposed trim and crossbuck door make it right for any natural vacation setting. There are plenty of windows and access to the outdoors . . . which is what a "retreat" home is all about. Front and rear decks . . . double windows upstairs and down . . . 1260 square feet of uncluttered living space.

Plan #LH-201 $9,274.

Franklin Manor

Early American charm in a well-thoughtout two story home. All the "living" area is downstairs, with the upper level devoted to sleeping or study or just quiet. First floor has large family room with fireplace, 1/2 bath, laundry, living room, dining room and centrally located kitchen. Second floor contains four bedrooms and two full baths; the master bedroom has its own bath and huge walk-in closet. 1930 sq. ft.

Plan #LH-109 $18,598.

Summit

Beautiful split level with a colonial touch. Columned front porch, vertical siding, wood shutters and brick combine to give the Summit an impressive exterior. Inside there are four bedrooms, two full baths, living room, dining room, large foyer, and kitchen/dining area. Master bedroom has a large dressing room with big closets and an adjacent bathroom. Lower level has family room and garage.

Plan #LH-110 $18,218.

Old Hickory

An attractive medium-sized split level. There are three bedrooms and one and a half baths located on the upper level; the master bedroom has its own private bath. The main level contains the kitchen, dining area and living room. These two levels total 1050 sq. ft. of heated living space. On the lower level are 500 sq. ft. left unfinished which you can use for storage now and finish later.

Plan #LH-121 $11,602.

Townsman

For the investor, the builder, or the contractor, Lowe's Townsman duplex apartment package may be just the thing you need for a profitable project. It's available in a two bedroom, two unit plan with 1722 sq. ft., or a three bedroom, two unit plan with 1870 sq. ft. With a good basic package plus the options that are available you can make it as simple or as luxurious as you want.

Plan #LH-300 & $17,449.

Colonial Manor

Horizontal lap siding, brick and colonial light windows make this an appealing apartment design. Cantilevered front windows add depth and interest to the front elevation. This four unit plan contains 2 two bedroom units on the upper level, and a two bedroom and one bedroom apartment on the lower level. The utility/storage area is centrally located to accommodate all residents.

Plan #LH-303 $27,095.

Woodland

The Woodland has a rustic country charm. Exterior vertical grooved siding is accented by trim boards and brick. The double garage opens at the front of the house, and there's space at the rear of it for a home workshop or storage. A modern home for a growing family, it has three bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, large living room with a balcony, kitchen plus unfinished area downstairs. 1579 sq. ft.

Plan #LH-112 $15,905.

Brentwood

This spacious tri-level has 2090 sq. ft. of well planned living space. The main level has an entrance foyer, large kitchen with sliding doors to a covered porch, living room and dining area. Three bedrooms, and two full baths are on the upper level. The lower level has a 23' by 13' family room with a cozy fireplace, plus a large unfinished area which can be used as a workshop or storage area.

Plan #LH-117 $19,079.

Buccaneer

If yours is a busy, growing family, a bi-level like the Buccaneer may be your best choice. The upper level contains three large bedrooms, kitchen with coffee nook, separate formal dining room, and a spacious living room which has one open end overlooking the entrance foyer. The lower level provides space for two cars plus an area which you can finish later for extra living space. 2100 sq. ft.

Plan #LH-120 $11,410.

Hy-Style Ranch

The Hy-Style Ranch is available in either a four bedroom or three bedroom plan. Has full main bath and full bath off master bedroom. There's a large dining room and kitchen, the living room is a huge 20' long with a beautiful picture window. Finished with cedar shakes and brick veneer, it's as lovely outside as in. There's 1239 sq. ft. in the 3 bedroom plan, 1372 sq. ft. in the 4 bedroom plan.

Plan #LH-105 $13,882.

Woodsman

Relax or dine on the large front deck. Take a deep breath and enjoy the view from the second story balcony. The Woodsman is made for fun. Upstairs are two bedrooms. Downstairs is a third bedroom, a full bath with adjacent linen closet, a convenient kitchen/dining room, extra storage space under the stairs, and an unusually large living room with a big, cozy fireplace. All yours with the Woodsman.

Plan #LH-203 $9,958.

Hatteras

Cape Cod, a design style that brings to mind the warmth and charm of an earlier time. Traditional simplicity makes it one of those lasting styles. On the first floor, our Hatteras has two bedrooms, full bath, kitchen/dining area, and a large living room complete with fireplace. The upper living area is unfinished and has 710 sq. ft. that you can finish in the future as your needs grow.

Plan #LH-111 $12,375.

Villager

The lines of vertical grooved siding, casement windows, and accent trim give these townhouse apartments a crisp, modern look. There are five units in the Villager, four two bedroom units and one three bedroom unit. Two of the units have an open balcony on the second floor overlooking the living room. Each unit has a rear sliding glass patio door. The Villager is 5309 sq. ft. plan.

Plan #LH-304 $46,244.

Crescent

The Crescent has horizontal lap siding accented by louvered wood shutters and brick. The large garage can be made to enter either from the side or the front. There are three large bedrooms; the master bedroom has a private half-bath. The living room has sliding glass doors that lead to a 10' balcony. Full main bath and roomy kitchen. There's plenty of space downstairs for future living space.

Plan #LH-113 $14,605.

Squire

Colonial charm, 1447 sq. ft. of well planned living space, and low cost have made the Squire one of our most popular Homesteads. Three large bedrooms including a 12' x 12' master bedroom with private bath. Family room, kitchen with pantry and laundry closet, living room and entry foyer. There's generous closet space and a two-car garage with entrance to the kitchen.

Plan #LH-106 $15,583.

Monterey

The distinctive appeal of Mediterranean styling makes the Monterey special from the outside. A gently curved wall flanks the garage entrance, and sawn plywood siding plus brick veneer front add a special flavor. Inside the Monterey has three bedrooms, two full baths, utility room, family room, kitchen, living room and dining area. All this style and convenience packed into 1380 sq. ft.

Plan #LH-116 $17,125.

Grass Roots

An attractive home that gives the buyer the maximum square footage of living space for the lowest construction cost. Each of the three bedrooms has its own family-size closet; the master bedroom has two closets plus its own entrance to the bath. Extra large kitchen/family area is roomy enough for many family activities. The Grass Roots has 1000 sq. ft. of well-planned space.

Plan #LH-101 $9,617.

Grandview

A front wall of glass windows and doors lets the great outdoors come into the Grandview. On the first floor is a large living room with sloped ceiling and brick fireplace, kitchen/dining room, full bath, laundry area, and two bedrooms. On the second floor are two more bedrooms, full bath, storage area and a balcony overlooking the living room. With 1878 sq. ft., plus large front and side decks.

Plan #LH-204 $19,995.

Primrose

The Primrose is a four bedroom, 1 1/2 bath plan with 1280 sq. ft. living space. The fourth bedroom can be used as a nursery, den, sewing room or kids' room. Large, open living room/family room area can be arranged to suit your needs. Outside, the Primrose is distinctive with its columned front entry porch and handsome, long-lasting hardboard siding applied horizontally with vertical accenting.

Congress Losing Control

Annual congressional reviews of foreign assistance granted by the U.S. government to other countries frequently is one of the more sharply debated issues, and it might well be so again this year. The funds provided, how they are spent and the nature of the governments receiving them are legitimate concerns of Congress and the American people.

But a study by a Washington-based "think tank," the Center for International Policy, reveals that Congress has abandoned the authority for reviewing a majority of the foreign aid funds dispensed each year. International agencies such as the Export-Import Bank now decide the bulk of foreign aid loans. Congress has no direct review of these disbursements.

In the last six years, according to the study, the share of American dollars allocated by the U.S. agencies, as opposed to the international bodies, has declined from 46 per cent of the total to 31 per cent. That means that two-thirds of the $24.9 billion allocated in the total foreign assistance package in fiscal 1976 had no prior congressional approval.

That is an extraordinary situation demanding an early congressional review.

Explore Your Home Town

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — "Television has indoctrinated us, the people, into an attitude of enduring the negative ... rather than enjoying the positive."

It almost seems like a set-up, a plot to improve ratings. The TV news, the documentaries, the serious talk shows make us so depressed and aware of evil that when the lightweight shows come on, they seem happier and funnier than they really are. Because of the contrast.

Our "positive reality" in life is videotaped escapism.

Howard Goldberg is a New Yorker who has spent the past 14 years offering people an inexpensive, "live rather than televised" alternative to the tube. To get people out of their houses and apartments, he formed "Adventures On A Shoestring," a loosely organized program for citizens "who enjoy getting out and exploring, and seeing, and talking, and don't want to spend a fortune in the process."

Typical "shoestring" events include such diverse activities as a visit to a haunted mansion, informal chats with painters or authors, mini-lessons in bartending or backgammon, dress rehearsals of Broadway musicals, spring strolls around the Brooklyn Bridge, even tours of a funeral home.

Altogether, throughout the year, Goldberg offers an average of six "adventures" a week to members - most of them at night and over the weekend - and his 1,500 subscribers pick the events that interest them, and ignore those that don't. Most popular events, perhaps understandably, are the free backstage theatrical visits and dress rehearsals, and anything to do with the occult: "seances with mediums and chats with witches and warlocks inevitably draw more adventurers than bird-watches or visits to candy factories."

Such is life. Or death, or whatever. The concept began about 25 years ago, when Howard Goldberg was a teenager who always knew where the "cheapie" activities of the city were happening. With his insatiable curiosity for the city, he kept a bulletin board reminding him of where to go, when, in order to learn the most, see the most, for little or no money. Friends were always calling to ask "what's going on this weekend, Howard?"

Then, 14 years ago, he had an urge to tour the old N.Y. Herald-Tribune one evening, and see the papers printed. But the Tribune said "You need 15 people if you want to tour the plant." Howard put a one-line ad in the Village Voice asking for volunteers, and 35 people showed up to join him. That night, "I'll never forget the thrill of being given the first copy of the paper off the presses."

Over coffee after the tour, his new "friends" urged Goldberg to snoop out more freebies they could enjoy together, and "Adventures" was conceived. The first year wasn't easy. He held some 50 or 60 events at which only one or two people showed up: "very embarrassing, but I believed in this so I held on. The worst time came when I wanted to tour a bagel-baking plant, and the only time possible was 8 a.m. on a Sunday. The plant was in Brooklyn. It was raining pitchforks. And nobody showed but me. But the manager was great. He gave me a guided tour, and two dozen freshly baked bagels. So it turned out well."

Although Goldberg's "Adventure On A Shoestring" is protected by copyright, he feels that other adventurers - in other towns and cities - should start up similar organizations. "I have members from 35 states, who come on our events during vacations in New York - so I know there's interest everywhere in the concept."

"And every city or town has people and places of great fascination to their local citizens. For instance, most people see their mayor or local politicians and public servants, only on a confrontation basis when something has gone wrong. With an organization like this, you can arrange for the citizens to meet with the mayor, or the chief of detectives, say, and chat on an informal basis. And how about talking with the local clergymen? It's like taking an intimate course in comparative religions."

"Most areas have various nationalities. One of our most popular 'adventures' is going to the homes of different ethnic-groups and participating in their holidays-it's a great way of understanding how other people live and feel. And how about visiting interesting archeological sites nearby - with high school teachers telling what they know about them. Every city and town has problems and plusses; why not get out and talk to people about them personally, rather than getting it all second-hand on TV?"

That's the chief benefit of an organization like this. "It brings back conversation, instills pride and gives more a sense of community - inexpensively."

There's no big money in it for the organizer, Goldberg warns. Though he has 1,500 members, who spend $20 each for a yearly membership, Goldberg is a part-time science writer, and must keep working to make ends meet. "But I'm a person who loves the adventure of it - and I love meeting people. Our members range from 18 to 70 years of age, are retired and in all manner of professions. To me, the people are as much an adventure as the adventures themselves."

"So if you like people, like fun, and aren't hooked on living vicariously through television - this could be for you."

Business World

By JOHN CUNNEIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Every so often there erupts a spirited surge of investing that for a brief while creates a lot of excitement and arouses hopes for a new era of economic growth.

But then a somber and perhaps more realistic mood descends on the hopes and shoulders of the overly optimistic and then everyone agrees the excitement was just a little steam being vented.

Stock market investors refrain from heavy commitments to corporate growth. Corporations themselves decline to make capital commitments and seek to keep stockholders happy through dividend increases.

Individuals who once had dreams of a second home now build their bank accounts instead, or else search the art and antique markets, satisfied to enjoy some little bit now in place of a great deal later on.

And the National Association of Manufacturers howls; certain economists warn of dreadful consequences; and the news media run stories of the country going down the drain "like Britain."

For millions of Americans an economic nightmare is developing: In their view the United States is killing the vitality that brought it at one time the highest material standard in the world, smothering it in big government.

The causes might be debatable, but the facts seem to document the claims that the current American mood is less than daring in regard to future growth.

In the stock market, the number of individual participants is believed to be still dropping. In 1970 they numbered 30,850,000; in 1975, just 25,270,000. Little seems to have happened since then to change the trend.

For several years the trend in odd-lot transactions, or transactions of fewer than 100 shares — supposedly indicative of smaller investors — has been heavily on the sellside.

Mutual funds, many of them formed in the 1960s to take advantage of what then was felt to be the inevitable swift growth of major corporations, have been suffering net redemptions.

Corporate price-earnings ratios, or the number of time per share earnings at which a stock sells — are sometimes only a fraction of what they were a few years ago. The p-e of the Dow Jones Industrial Average was 9.7 last Friday. A year ago it was 13.1. In 1964 it was 18.8.

Blyth Eastman Dillon says the gloomy assessment of investors dates to the mid-1960s, and has its roots in a 30 per cent decline of real corporate profits between 1966 and 1976.

Simultaneous with the decline in corporate profitability, many stock analysts point out, there has been an increase in the proportion of national income in the form of employee compensation.

Enraged by the trends, corporation executives often rail against the quality of economic education, ambitious regulators, self-serving politicians who advocate spending projects that bring them votes, and environmentalists who "block progress."

"How can we invest under such circumstances?" they ask.

And the individual investors answer: "How can we have faith in the future if you don't?"

And often by default, the planning falls to the politicians and the bureaucrats, who many claim are the root cause of the trouble in the first place.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Feb. 24, the 55th day of 1977. There are 310 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1868, impeachment proceedings against President Andrew Johnson were begun in Congress.

On this date:

In 1863, Arizona was organized as a territory.

In 1903, the United States acquired a naval station on Cuba's Guantanamo Bay.

In 1945, American troops liberated the Philippine capital of Manila from Japanese occupation during World War II.

In 1946, Juan Peron was elected president of Argentina.

In 1970, 30 persons were killed in an avalanche in western Switzerland.

Ten years ago: Albert De Salvo, who claimed he was the "Boston Strangler," escaped from a Massachusetts mental institution.

Five years ago: North Vietnam and the Viet Cong walked out of peace talks in Paris, protesting U.S. bombing and what they called "serious acts of war."

One year ago: Jimmy Carter won the Presidential primary in New Hampshire. On the Republican side, it was a virtual standoff between President Ford and Ronald Reagan.

Today's birthday: Jamaican political leader Sir Alexander Bustamante is 93 years old.

Thought for today: Nothing in life is to be feared. It is only to be understood — scientist Marie Curie, 1867-1934.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I am 29 and in good health. My father and his brother both had strokes before they were 60. Although I'm not really frightened I do find that I have more than a moderate concern that this might happen to me. Are there any long-range programs that I should consider in order to avoid a stroke?

Mr. K.L.B., N.J.

Dear Mr. B.:
The possibility that strokes may be hereditary is minimal. You, therefore, should have this cloud of fear dispelled by reassurance, from me and, particularly, from your own doctor.

Since you are in good physical health it is most important that you forget the threat of an inevitable stroke.

There are very definite, sensible ways that you can plan to continue enjoying good health. Strokes are known about the cause of strokes. When these causes are eliminated, the chances of stroke are markedly reduced.

Undetected and untreated high blood pressure is a common factor. Marked obesity, high cholesterol and triglycerides in the blood, and unrecognized diabetes increase the risks.

Tobacco is a most important factor in narrowing the blood vessels that lead to the brain.

Regular checkups by your physician, strict adherence to a sensible diet, control of weight, regular exercise, and elimination of tobacco will go far towards preventing stroke. And, of course, learning the art of reducing emotional tensions and stress is more than a superficial postscript to these suggestions.

Are there real advantages to having hydrotherapy treatments for arthritis and muscle pains?

Mr. M.R.E., Wisc.

Dear Mr. E.:
Water therapy has been used for hundreds of years for the relief of muscular pains, neuritis and some forms of arthritis.

There are limitless types of hydrotherapy. Some have special devices for activating the flow of water. Jet streams and whirlpools, in addition to the control of temperature, bring relief to many people.

The psychological benefits are great because hydrotherapy produces comfortable feelings of relaxation.

When hydrotherapy is used under the direction of the physician, and when treatments are not too vigorous, a great deal of comfort can be obtained.

Turner Confirmation Seen As Assured

WASHINGTON (AP) — After virtually assuring confirmation of President Carter's nominee for CIA director, the Senate intelligence committee is beginning a probe into reports of CIA payoffs to Jordan's King Hussein and other foreign leaders.

Adm. Stansfield Turner won a strong vote of confidence from the panel on Tuesday after successfully defending his intention to retain his four-star rank while running the intelligence agency.

That had been the only personal objection senators raised over the nomination of the 53-year-old Turner. But he noted that nine members of the military have served as CIA director or deputy director in the past. Turner said remaining an admiral would cost him $17,000 a year, since he could collect a pension and his CIA salary if he resigned.

Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, chairman of the committee, said he foresaw "no problems" when the panel meets today to vote on Turner's nomination. He jokingly told Turner, who is chief of NATO forces in southern Europe, "If you have an assignment in Naples tonight, go ahead. I think you can be confident of being confirmed."

The committee also planned to meet in private to discuss the reports that the CIA over a period of years has doled out millions of dollars to Hussein and certain other foreign officials in exchange for information or other assistance.

The subject did not arise in the panel's questioning of Turner on Tuesday, but he was to attend the closed meeting along with E. H. Knoche, the CIA's deputy director who has been in charge since former Director George Bush left office on Jan. 20.

Turner told the panel: "He could not visualize a situation in which he would approve the assassination of a foreign leader by the CIA in peacetime."

—He believes in criminal penalties for agency employees and former employees who violate their required oath of secrecy by divulging classified information, and would help draft legislation to establish such sanctions.

—The cumulative annual budget for all intelligence activities should be made public.

—If a President ever insisted that he approve a CIA operation that was clearly illegal or improper, he would resign his post and report the matter to the Senate committee.

—He favors strict congressional oversight of the intelligence community and would cooperate fully in making information available, including details of covert operations, but would prefer to report to only one committee in each house. Seven committees now share some jurisdiction over the intelligence agencies.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:
I read a very interesting article in the Columbus Dispatch, the headlines, "Pickaway County Attorneys Promote City Building Plan" (Plus the Circleville Herald's article on this subject.) My question is, who is going to finance this new building?

Why, after spending $46,000 several years back on a study for a complex between the city and county tabled? What was the cost of renovating the outside of the existing city hall? The cost of these two items was paid by whom? If it was the taxpayers who paid, what a waste. If it wasn't the taxpayers, it is still a waste.

If this is to be financed by the taxpayers, I believe that the most existing problems in our city should come first. Such as the conditions of our city streets. I do hope that we all realize that when the winter weather ceases to be, the streets will be so bad that, probably, they will all have to be replaced. If you don't realize this drive around our city today. The bad weather we have had to date, has already taken its toll.

Sincerely,
DONNA HALL

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Whitcraft (Corene Valentine) are parents of a son born Feb. 16 in Berger Hospital. He weighed 7-pounds 9-ounce. Grandparents are Berneda Whitcraft of Circleville, Lester Whitcraft of South Bloomingville, Nancy Bower and Roger Valentine Sr. of Laurelville.

The L.F.C.S. of the Mt. Carmel church met at the home of Mrs. Maxine VanCuren on Feb. 1st. The roll call was answered by each member giving their favorite Bible verse. Mrs. Joyce VanCuren gave a reading entitled "Take Time to See" and also read the scripture from Acts 17:24-29. Members present were Joyce VanCuren, Eunice Hart, Esther Mercer, Bev. Hart, Connie Davis, Avanel Hart and the hostess. The next meeting will be March 1 at the home of Mrs. Esther Mercer. Ladies of the Mt. Carmel church who visited Fox Nursing Home on last Tuesday were Joyce VanCuren, Sharon Thomas, Maudie Thomas, Maxine VanCuren, Eunice Hart, Linda Hettinger, Donna Smith and a guest Mrs. Pat Fetherolf.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Robinette entertained last Wednesday evening, Feb. 16 in honor of their daughter Colleen's 12 birthday. Dinner guests who joined in the celebration included

Michelle Robinette of Columbus, Mrs. Kay Valentine of Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. David Hinton and daughters Darma and Kim, Melissa, Kitty and Denise Barton and LeeAnn Robinette.

Chrisie Radabaugh celebrated his sixth birthday with dinner, ice cream and cake at the home of Grandma and Grandpa Reams in Adelphi. Others present were his Mommy and Daddy, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Radabaugh, his sister Cary Dawn, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ream Jr. and Mindy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Karr of Laurelville, Mrs. Carolyn Wharton and Frank of Amanda, and Curtis Ream.

Funeral service was held at 2 p.m. Tuesday for Craig Hoover, 22, of Glenford, O. who was killed on Saturday in an auto accident. He was the son of Kermit and Joan Mortal Hoover of Glenford and a nephew of Mrs. Madge Young of Laurelville. Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Lowell of Pickerington, Martin of Columbus, three sisters, Mrs. Diane Nicol of Sumter, S.C., Mrs. Martha Denning and Miss Star Hoover of Reynoldsburg, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Hoover of Glenford. Service was held in the Olivet Church of the Brethren with burial in the Highland cemetery, Glenford, under the direction of the Thomas Funeral Home of Somerset.

Mrs. Jack Karshner (Jean Ruth Drum) of Wadsworth flew to Largo, Fla. last week to spend some time with her parents, Denny and Ruby Drum. Denny is still a patient in a convalescent home in Clearwater recuperating slowly from a broken hip. The Drums would like to thank their many friends for the cards and letters they have received (over 200) since Denny's accident.

Heart Sunday — Don't forget, Sunday Feb. 27 is Heart Sunday and someone will be knocking at your door for a contribution for this most worthy cause. In Laurelville the solicitors will be the girls of the Laurelville Girl Scouts. If you will not be at home, why not leave your contribution with a neighbor or take it to the home of leader, Mrs. Jane Reed on Victory Drive — the street back of the Laurel Hills Church in Laurelville.

Sunday company of Bessie and Mildred Fetherolf of Route 56, South were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Eaton (Barbara Fetherolf) of Wyckoff, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Fetherolf of Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and Penny of near Tarilton, and Gordon Fetherolf of Blue Creek Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Poling were Sunday dinner guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Poling in celebration of Mike's birthday.

Weekend guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Hudgins and Rob were the Hudgins son-in-law and daughter, James and Carol Horney and their daughter Kelie of Cincinnati. Due to illness at Christmas they were unable to come home for the holidays, so Mrs. Hudgins set up a little Christmas tree and they celebrated Christmas, New Years, Lincoln and Washington's birthdays and Valentine day all together. It is always better late than not at all.

Mr. and Mrs. Vic Pontious of Amanda were Monday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hartsaugh.

The following information comes from Hocking County Extension agent, Beverly Donahey for interested ladies in the Hocking County area. A learn at home course "Wardrobe that Works" is an independent course in four lessons which will be mailed directly to your home four times during the month of March.

The first lesson "Look at Yourself" contains information such as "Wardrobe That Works", "Color Complements", "Lines" and "Which Styles are Best for You". The second lesson is "Shape Up" and refers to preparing a wardrobe with information on mending, laundry and stain removal. The third lesson, "Shipout or Reshape" means to recycle your clothes. The lesson contains many ideas on how to recycle your clothing, plus information on patchwork, creative stitchery on jeans and a pattern for a mini skirt. The fourth lesson, "Build on for a Complete Wardrobe" has many pamphlets providing directions for tying scarves, information on wearing stripes and quilting by machine.

Send your name and address, phone number and $1.00 to Beverly Donahey, Hocking County Extension Service, 150 N. Homer Ave., Logan, Ohio, 43138 to enroll in the study course.

(Sounds like a $1.00 worth spending girls, I can't sew a straight seam but I believe I'll enroll — everything I have needs to be recycled — or shipped out.)

A daughter, Stacy Marie, was born Feb. 8 to Marine Capt. and Mrs. Gary Stevens, (Donna Lucas). The little lady weighing 5-pounds 6-ounces was born at the naval base hospital at Cherry Point, N.C. where Gary is stationed. Grandparents are Don and Jane Stevens of near Adelphi, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lucas of Circleville.

Notice to ladies in the Hocking County area: because of the number of requests, the Hocking County Extension office is sponsoring two toy workshops. The first was held Feb. 22, the date of the second is Monday, Feb. 28 from 1 to 3:30 p.m. in the Youth Center, Conference room at Logan, Ohio. The registration fee is 50 cents. It is necessary to register so the Extension office will know how many to expect and so you can be informed on what materials to bring to class. Beverly Donahey, county extension agent of home economics will assist you in making the toys. Come and make Chuckie Chicken, the walking puppet, a hobby horse, cookie monsters, bean bag octopus, and others.

Buffalo Creek Not Forgotten

LOGAN, W.Va. (AP) — Dr. J. S. Church has been receiving some sad but predictable phone calls, pleas for help from people who've looked at the calendar and seen a wall of dark water rushing toward them.

"I can always tell when we're getting near another anniversary," Church said recently. "The calls start coming in. It happens every year about this time."

Treasurer Gives Report

Gertrude W. Donahey, Treasurer of the State of Ohio, has released the county sales tax and motor vehicle sales tax report for the month of January.

Pickaway County reported $107,593.15 in sales taxes for January of 1977, as compared with $87,038.78 for January of 1976. The difference amounts to $20,117.37, or 23.11 per cent.

The county has also reported $772,593.43 in sales taxes for fiscal 1977 as compared to $685,993.69 in fiscal 1976, for a difference of $86,599.74, or 12.62 per cent.

For motor vehicle sales taxes for January of 1977, Pickaway County reported $58,818.79. In January of 1976 the county had $47,308.49, making the difference $11,510.20, or 24.33 per cent.

For fiscal 1977 the county has had $524,288.28 to date, comparable with fiscal 1976's $440,376.26 to this date.

The difference amounts to $83,912.02, or 19.05 per cent.

Circleville Chapter, 90 OES Observed Presidents Day

Presidents Day was observed when Circleville Chapter 90, Order of the Eastern Star, met Tuesday night in the Masonic Temple.

Worthy matron Betsy French presided at the meeting which was opened with the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address by Clarence Radcliffe, worthy patron.

Marie L. Hamilton, past grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Ohio, was welcomed and escorted to a seat in the East. Other honored members present included past matrons Elaine Bowman, Pauline Cook, Leona Riegel, Mary Radcliffe, Betty LeMay, Irma Sharpe, Mary Johnson, Marie Bennett, Donna Foreman, Pauline Hundley, Faye Mahaffey, Gladys Shepler and Kathryn Thomerson, and past patrons William Hall, Kenneth Riegel and Byron LeMay.

Invitations were received to attend the Grand Inspection of Westwood Chapter 200 on March 5 at the Cincinnati Masonic Temple, George Lewis Behrens Chapter 504 on March 26 at Buckeye Valley High School, Delaware, and Anna Gilbert Chapter 490 on March 12 at Miami View Elementary School, South Charleston, Ohio.

Announcement was made of the appointment of Ruth Cline, past matron of Waverly Chapter 99, as Grand Representative of Colorado in Ohio.

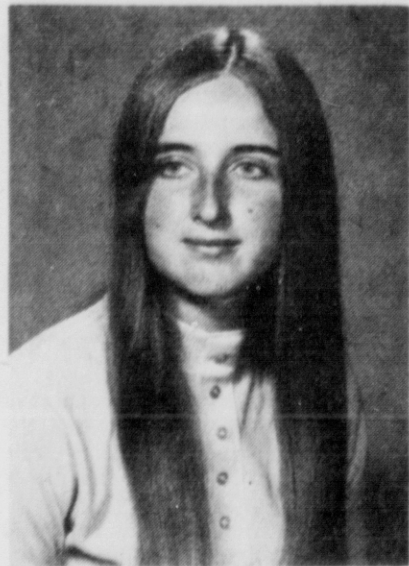

Notes of thanks were read from the O.E.S. Hospital Circle, Columbus, and from Byron LeMay. The good cheer committee reported Susan Davis is a patient in Mt. Carmel Hospital, and Elizabeth Dunkle is recuperating at home.

Mildred Butts, dinner chairman, reported on menus and work schedules for the dinners to be served March 11 and 17. Members who can assist with either dinner were asked to contact her.

Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed in the dining room which was decorated in red, white, and blue in keeping with Presidents Day. Refreshments were served by Mary Johnson and Barbara Kuhn.

The next regular meeting of the chapter will be March 8, at which time a 50-year pin will be presented and initiatory work will be performed. Officers will wear chapter dress.

The Homemakers group held a meeting at the Fire House last week with Mrs. L. E. Hill in charge of the 'learning session'. She had a tape, "Health Fair" supplied by the Extension Office and some of the ailments covered were cancer, high-blood pressure and heart trouble. Don Mallow from the Fire Department was on hand to explain the advantages of an Emergency Squad how they apply first aid or any other prescribed treatment until they get a person to the Hospital or a Doctor. Sixteen members were present and all enjoyed taking blood pressures.

The learning session for the next meeting is, "Seeds and Seedlings" and Miss Grace Dresbach and Miss Gertrude Senff will secure the material from the extension office.

Mrs. Wilbur Fox returned home last Wednesday after a month at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Crocker (Karen Fox) in Jacksonville Fla. Mrs. Fox was in Florida to welcome their first grand-son, Patrick Ryan Crocker on Feb. 5. She says she saw one half inch of snow while she was there. But what she missed!

Mrs. F. B. Mowery is recuperating from surgery in the Medical Center and is doing nicely. Her son, James has come up from Florida to be with her for a while as has her daughter, Mrs. Ann Brown from Xenia. She is in room 3A-51.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Targee are back from Billings, Mont. where they were guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Targee and children, Jennifer, Katie and Tyler David who was born on Feb. 3.

Miss Paula Burgoon, a student nurse at the Miami Valley Hospital in Dayton, spend the weekend with her parents and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burgoon and Mrs. Ann Burgoon.

Mrs. Irene Smith flew to Garden Grove, California recently to visit her cousin, Mrs. Olive Martin. They were joined by Mrs. Martin's brother-and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolfe of Des Moines, Iowa.

Mrs. Phillip Davis spent the weekend in Richmond, Ind. with her sister and her mother, Mrs. Dwight Lanman who suffers from a heart condition and has been quite ill for several months.

Joey Brooks was the weekend guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eisenman and daughter, Kimberly at their home in Columbus. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brooks Sr. joined them on Sunday and helped Kim celebrate her seventh birthday.

Nicholas Kelley spent Sunday with his son, Tim at Ohio University, Athens.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones and sons, Fred and Craig, Mrs. John Walker and son, Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Targee and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Delong dined at Wardell's Sunday. The occasion was Mr. Jones' birthday.

Nelsonville Mayor Has Her Hands Full

NELSONVILLE, Ohio (AP) — When Violet Hollenbaugh became mayor she didn't know trouble would come in bunches.

This winter is putting her to the test. "We've got nearly 400 houses without water because the pipes froze," she said last week. "We've got only about 2,000 houses in the whole city."

The frost line in this southeast Ohio community has been measured up to 36 inches this winter.

"We've never had frozen ground that deep before," she said. "I don't think the temperature got above zero during January."

The hall leading to her second floor office was stacked with plastic jugs filled with water.

"The Salvation Army, police, volunteers, anybody, is taking water to some of our older people," she said. "City equipment to thaw pipes can only get to about a half-dozen houses a day."

"Yesterday they got to seven houses and broke the ice at only one."

"We've got a mess."

"The city reservoir ran dry last week. We found a couple of main water lines frozen and broken and all the water ran out."

Kenneth Kinnear, retired principal of Nelsonville High School, came in while she talked to report water to his house had been frozen nearly two weeks.

"I ought to let you sit," she jokingly told him. "I remember all those detentions you gave me in high school."

Kinnear, nearly 70 himself, agreed water should be restored first to the older citizens and said he could do without a while longer.

Mrs. Hollenbaugh, whose family settled here before Daniel Nelson platted the city 160 years ago, said she ran for mayor to prove it should be a fulltime job. She had served previously on City Council and said she wanted to show that the part-time jobs of mayor and service director could be combined into a full-time position.

Nelsonville is barely above the 5,000 population needed to maintain a city status in Ohio. Less than that is classed as a village.

"We've got a population of 5,277," she said. "The last federal census showed us under 5,000 but we were so close the state let us take our own census."

Mrs. Hollenbaugh made national news last year when she put a chain across railroad tracks in the middle of town to emphasize the need to repair a street crossing at the tracks.

"I got on TV and everything with that," she said. "Of course the chain wasn't tight enough to hurt anybody. You could have knocked it lose with a bicycle."

"We got the street crossing fixed but now it needs doing again."

State Split Over Energy Pinch

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans in the northern part of the state tend to take energy and environmental problems more seriously than their southern counterparts, a survey conducted just before the current energy crisis set in shows.

The survey, made for the Ohio Energy Resource and Development Agency by William B. Moreland, an Ohio State University research associate, was turned over to ERDA earlier this week.

ERDA commissioned the survey to glean attitudes of Ohioans and hopes to put the information to use in changing the way residents view the problem of conserving the state's dwindling energy reserves, especially natural gas.

Rural residents questioned during the survey tended, on the question of Ohio's most serious problem, to side with the north. Twenty-two per cent of the rural population sampled cited energy.

In the Cleveland area, 26 per cent mentioned energy as the most serious problem facing the state.

The number of respondents naming energy drops off significantly, the survey shows, in the south. In Columbus and Cincinnati only 10 per cent of those polled listed energy as the No. 1 problem confronting Ohio.

The north-south trend reversed itself, the survey notes, in the case of

Producer Defects

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dumitru Udrescu, Romania's top television producer and the man who made a TV documentary on Olympic gymnast Nadia Comaneci, has been granted asylum in the United States, the International Rescue Committee says.

The Los Angeles office of the committee said Tuesday that Udrescu was notified by letter of the decision by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Halleck L.F. Rose, director of the IRC's Los Angeles office, said the letter which Udrescu received Saturday grants him the right to remain in the United States indefinitely and to seek permanent employment.

The film, "Nadia—From Romania With Love," was the first Romanian-American coproduction. It costarred comedian Flip Wilson. Udrescu completed editing the film in Los Angeles and it was shown during the Thanksgiving weekend in the United States.

A few weeks later Udrescu defected, leaving behind an 18-year-old daughter and his parents.

Akron and Dayton. Akron respondents more nearly reflected the southern attitude while those polled in Dayton seemed more attuned to the Cleveland attitude.

Leaving aside the question of what problem seems to be the worst, the pollsters then asked those responding to evaluate the seriousness of the energy problem for both Ohio and the United States.

In each section of the state, persons responding to the poll felt the energy problems of the United States as a whole were greater than those of Ohio.

In the rural sector, 38 per cent said it felt the national energy problem was very serious while only 29 per cent of that sector said the same for Ohio.

The drop in the appraisal of the seriousness of the national situation as compared to the Ohio problem was roughly equivalent except in Akron where 48 per cent called the country's problem very serious while 45 per cent said the same for Ohio's outlook.

Conservation measures taken by Ohioans also, the survey shows, follows the north-south split with rural residents reflecting the northern attitude.

In rural areas, the survey found that 60 per cent to 70 per cent have taken measures to prevent heat loss from homes. The same was found in the northern cities, while less than a majority of those surveyed in the south had taken the same measures.

In response to the statement "Deregulation of Natural Gas will Assure Supplies," only the rural sector agreed more often than disagreed. There 41 per cent agreed while 39 per cent disagreed.

Elsewhere in the state a larger percentage disagreed, with agreement and disagreement equal in Dayton at 43 per cent.

Tax Revolt Under Way

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Elyria pharmacist John "Jack" McCurry says he's following the lead of a Michigan group refusing to pay federal income taxes in a protest, and he hopes other Ohioans follow his lead.

McCurry says he is protesting the pay increases congressmen voted for themselves, as well as for judges and some top government officials.

He said he thought there should have been a floor fight over the 28.9 per cent pay raise for members of the Senate and House. Pay increases for federal judges and high-ranking government officials were estimated at 7.1 to 47.6 per cent.

McCurry said he is putting income tax withholdings for himself and seven employees into escrow. The deductions amount to $644 a month, he said, adding that "the interest I will get from the money in the bank will pay the penalty the government will put on me for being late."

"I know they will come after me with penalties for being late, but I am ready and willing to take that risk," he said.

He said he didn't like the government shoving things down the taxpayers' throats.

Judge Ammer Denies Shock Probation

Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer denied shock probation for one man and approved it for another.

In an opinion rendered Feb. 23, Judge Ammer denied a motion for shock probation filed by Woodrow T. Burton.

Burton of Route 2, Ashville, was sentenced to a term of from six months to five years in the Mansfield Reformatory after he pled guilty to a charge of receiving stolen property Oct. 13.

He was arrested Sept. 6 after coming into possession of picnic tables which had been stolen from the Columbus Metropolitan Park Authority.

In denying shock probation, Judge Ammer took Burton's prior criminal record into consideration.

John Rooker Jr., 21, 130 1/2 Pinckney St., was given shock probation for three years.

Rooker, charged a year ago with two counts of the sale of an hallucinogen, pled guilty Oct. 25 and was sentenced

Cincy May Sue EPA For 'Failure'

CINCINNATI (AP) — A city councilman has called on Cincinnati to take the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to court for what he calls a failure to protect the city's drinking water supplies.

Springer said he planned to ask the City Council today to file suit against the federal agency for alleged violations of the Safe Drinking Water Act.

The action comes in the wake of the passage by the city of a 70-ton chemical slug of carbon tetrachloride. The chemical was discharged from a point somewhere on the Kanawha River in West Virginia, EPA officials believe.

"I think in granting a license to pollute the river without establishing serious monitoring procedures, the EPA went against the interests of the law," said Springer, who said he has gathered considerable support for his proposal.

"I think the courts should decide this issue."

The councilman said he believed that the burden should be on the industry to prove that it is not polluting.

Four companies have been granted permits by the federal government to discharge certain amounts of carbon tetrachloride. They are responsible for monitoring their own discharges, with periodic EPA checks.

Since the discovery of the slug last Friday, the EPA monitoring efforts have been increased.

Rhodes Gets 'Suggestions' On Energy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If he didn't know it already, Gov. James A. Rhodes is learning there are plenty of smartalecks out there.

"Have visitors and guests only in winter," wrote one respondent. "Their body heat will cut your fuel bill. Explain to friends and in-laws that you must live alone from April to November."

That was one suggestion offered to the governor, who is scouring North America for natural gas and solutions to Ohio's energy crisis.

The state spent about $12,000 recently on newspaper advertisements soliciting gas supplies in the Southwest. The governor and his top energy advisors also have made flying trips to Canada, Texas and Oklahoma beating the bushes for gas supplies.

Peter Susey, deputy director of the Ohio Energy Resource and Development Agency, has seen most of the replies solicited by the advertising campaign and notes that many show little sympathy for Ohioans and their gas crisis.

"Some people have just torn the ad out of their papers and scrawled four-letter words on it and mailed it in," Susey said.

Other thoughtful tips for the governor:

—"Avoid using petroleum based charcoal lighter on picnics. Use precision ground magnifying glass fueled by ever renewable solar energy to start your fire."

—An 11-year-old in Elyria, Ohio wrote asking for a list of schools that would be closed. "The reason I would like to know is because if the schools shut down we kids will have to go to school in the summer and I'm sure you would not like to go to school in the summer if you were a kid."

Why I got to Church in bad weather.

1. God has blessed the Lord's day and hallowed it, making no exception for hot, or cold, or stormy days.

2. I expect the pastor to be there. I would be surprised if he were to stay home in bad weather.

3. If his hands fail through weakness, I might blame myself unless I sustain him by my prayer and presence.

4. Whatever position I hold in the church, my example will influence others.

5. Bad weather will show on what foundation my faith is built; it will prove how much I love Christ, truly love Christ. True love rarely fails to meet an appointment.

6. My faith is to be shown by my self-denying life, and not by the rise and fall of the thermometer.

Gas Order Inhumane

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — A Columbia Gas Co. order termed "inhumane" by a West Virginia health official has turned out to be just that, according to the utility.

Kanawha-Charleston Health Department Director Page Seekford's remark was directed at the utility's edict that state nursing homes could not move their thermostats above 65 degrees. Seekford said such a ruling could mean pneumonia for many elderly nursing home residents.

"The order is inhumane," he said.

Columbia officials came up with the same assessment Wednesday. They blamed the order on a computer.

"They've (the nursing homes) received a letter that was sent to all commercial customers," said a Columbia spokesman in Columbus, Ohio. "It was sent to them in error."

"Columbus had a list on a master computer and nursing homes should have been purged as commercial customers. The only thing I can say is we're sorry."

Derby News

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 896-2462

The sermon title for morning worship services at the Derby United Methodist Church Feb. 27 will be "The Greatest Question," with Reverend Larry Zellers in the pulpit.

Lent is observed throughout the Christian world as a season of preparation for Easter. The preparation referred to here is inner or spiritual preparation that the Christian engages in to ready himself for the greatest event in the Christian calendar. The date changes from year to year because Easter changes each year and Lent consists of the 40 days just prior to Easter, not counting Sundays. To make the tally of days come out right, Ash Wednesday is the first day, and Saturday before Easter is the 40th.

The reason Easter changes from year to year is the fact that there is an attempt to correlate the Jewish Lunar calendar with the Gregorian calendar. What this means is that Easter falls on the first Sunday after the first full moon after March 21. To determine the date Ash Wednesday begins each year, it is necessary first to determine the date of Easter and subtract forty days, not counting Sundays.

Rules as to what one should abstain from eating during Lent are more lax today, but millions of Christians still follow them and others give up something they consider very good to eat as a means of discipline. It isn't fair to abstain from eating a food one doesn't like in the first place, for example. Fasting therefore can be a spiritual exercise to determine how much a certain food means to him or her. Countless millions are surprised to find that a cup of coffee or small piece of pie can influence their lives more than they care to admit.

Our thanks to the Rev. Zellers for helping us to better understand the true meaning of Lenten season beginning Feb. 23.

The community offers its condolences to Mrs. Jean Rubrecht and family and to other relatives of Mrs. Laura McMillen, 85, who passed away in Monterey Nursing Inn recently.

Special birthday wishes for Mrs. Martha Vincent on Feb. 19.

Mrs. Betty Ferguson, mother of Mrs. Flem Blair, is a surgical patient in Riverside Methodist Hospital, Room 905, 3535 Olentangy Boulevard, Columbus, 43214.

Dayco Corp. Ends Carpeting Work

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayco Corp. has phased out its carpet cushion line in Hamilton, Ont., to provide more manufacturing space for automotive original equipment products, an official said Tuesday.

T. Carlton Holt, Dayco's executive vice president, said the phaseout was caused by an increasing demand for the automotive products in Canada.

More Woes For Rebate Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite an initial Senate victory, President Carter's economic stimulation program still faces some big obstacles, and it isn't just Republicans who are complaining.

The next preliminary test for the package of tax cuts and spending hikes comes in the House, which planned to vote today on whether to amend the current budget to make room for some special economic medicine.

The House is expected to have little trouble approving the budget changes, but it will be a month longer before Congress decides finally whether the stimulus will include the $50-per-person tax rebate that Carter has proposed. It is on that question that the big fight will come.

The Senate voted 72-20 on Tuesday to add $17.2 billion to the budget to accommodate a stimulus program. That is $1.7 billion more than Carter proposed and about the same as the House Budget Committee recommended.

Several senators who voted for the budget changes said they were doing so despite reservations about Carter's proposals. They singled out the rebate plan for criticism as wasteful and ineffective.

The 38 Republican senators already are publicly committed against the rebate, favoring instead a permanent tax cut for individuals. The number of Democrats who feel that way is growing.

At least a half-dozen Democratic senators are openly opposing the rebate. If the 38 Republicans don't change their stand and can pick up a total of 13 Democrats, they could play havoc with the rebate plan.

No matter whether the stimulus program finally approved by Congress is what Carter asked or something else, the aim is the same: to give consumers more money with the hope they will spend it quickly in order to spur industrial production, and to create jobs directly through increased federal spending.

The action taken by the Senate would result in this type of stimulus over the next seven months:

—$12 billion in tax cuts and $1.8 billion in special payments, probably $50 per person, for nontaxpayers, such as Social Security recipients.

—$300 million to help needy persons pay their fuel bills in areas hardest hit by the bitter winter. This proposal is still under development.

—$700 million for public service jobs, such as in hospitals and jails. The aim is to expand such jobs from the current limit of 310,000 to 600,000 over the next seven months and to 725,000 in 1978.

—$400 million more to start construction on such public works projects as schools and hospitals.

—$600 million for special employment training and jobs targeted for young and old Americans, who are hardest hit by unemployment.

—$800 million for construction of antipollution and recreation facilities and railroad and highway construction.

—$600 million to help states, cities and counties, hurt by tax losses because of the weak economy, to pay operating expenses and avoid layoffs.

Consumer Counsel Lays Future Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's new Consumer Counsel, William A. Spratley, brings only two years of experience in utility affairs to his unique assignment as an independent advocate for residential customers.

But Spratley, who will be 30 next Thursday, has a solid background in government and a keen, working knowledge of the state's original cost ratemaking law.

He lobbied extensively to get it passed in the legislature and has helped enforce it as a Public Utilities Commission of Ohio hearing examiner.

In fact, the concept of a consumer counsel to give homeowners and renters an expert voice in rate case proceedings, was created by that legislation, although Spratley was not involved with that part of the bill.

The Ohio State University law graduate and native of Wooster was chosen unanimously for the post Wednesday by the Consumer Counsel Governing Board, a nine-member policy body appointed by Atty. Gen. William J. Brown.

Spratley serves at the pleasure of that board, which set his salary at $34,000 a year and scheduled a Tuesday meeting to plan policy for the remaining four months of the biennium. The consumer office has been granted start-up funding of $750,000 which was assessed against the utilities, proportionate to their gross receipts, as will future costs of the office.

Bill Gets Tough On Young Thugs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Outraged by increasing attacks by youth gangs on Ohio's elderly citizens, Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland, introduced Wednesday a bill applying adult penalties to youngsters starting at age 10.

Butts said his bill doesn't mean they would be tried in adult courts or sent to adult jails, but would mean incarceration in juvenile correction facilities for the same time an adult would serve for the same crime.

His measure also requires restitution by parents or others for damages suffered by citizens 65 or older, including medical bills. The youths would not be eligible for parole until restitution was made, he said. He said his bill could be amended— "perhaps age 10 is a bit young"—but that he thinks the state should formally adopt a policy serving notice to the young that "our elderly are something very special."

The Women of First English Lutheran Church met last Wednesday night for their General Meeting. Janet Bluck had the Devotions for the evening and Georgia Dore had the Bible Study on the Book of Isaiah. Refreshments were served by the Executive Committee.

Those attending were Jo Bowers, Georgia Dore, Phil Bisker, Katie Durn, Jane Wilson, Mary Alice Peters, Helen Hedges, Mona Trego, Ann Cromley, Martha Brinker, Janet Bluck, Carol Ramsay, Ethel Axe, Esther Pontius and Nancy Rich.

The tables were decorated in the Valentine theme by Carol Ramsay.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Roese, Martha Huston and Pauline Roese recently returned home after vacationing in Florida. On their return trip home they stopped in Plains, Ga., which is located north of Albany on Route 280.

As they entered the town, which is about the size of Williamsport, they could see both the town signs and the water tower were painted red, white and blue. The tower also had an American Flag on it. The train tracks are right on the main street of the town. They toured the area and saw Miss Lillian's and Billy Carter's home and purchased gasoline at the station owned by Billy Carter. The place they process peanuts looks just like our grain elevators. They really enjoyed the tour of the small town but reported that tourists are really taking over.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Let Driver Keep On Trucking

DEAR ABBY: I've heard of wives who have threatened to leave their husbands unless they gave up their dangerous jobs as policemen. Well, I'm not about to leave my husband because of his dangerous job, only he's not a cop, but a newspaper truck driver who drives 200 miles a night, five nights a week. My husband (I'll call him Mike) is in the hospital from his second serious accident in five years. Five years ago a drunk hit him head on. Both Mike's legs were broken and his finger was torn off. (The drunk was killed instantly.)

Last week, Mike hit a deer! The deer's legs came right through the windshield and into the cab of the truck. The deer proceeded to kick Mike in the face. Luckily a constable arrived on the scene and shot the deer, or it might have kicked Mike to death.

All Mike's front teeth were knocked out, and it took 65 stitches to sew his face up.

Abby, newspapers must be delivered, so Mike goes out in all kinds of weather. Sometimes these Pennsylvania roads are one sheet of ice, and it's so foggy you can't see your hand in front of your face. He's been driving for 20 years, and lately, every time I say goodbye to him, I'm a nervous wreck until he gets home safe.

I've begged him to get a different job, but he won't. If you or anyone else can offer a reasonable suggestion for coping with this problem, I'll listen. I love Mike with all my heart and figure if he loved me as much, he'd see my point and change jobs.

MIKE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If you've begged Mike to change jobs and he's refused, it's evidence that he's doing what he wants to do and probably what he does best. Granted, his job has a higher risk

Legislation Eyes

'Team' Election

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Legislation that would have the governor and lieutenant governor run as a team in Ohio's 1978 general election is now pending in the Ohio Senate.

Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-6 Dayton, said the bill he introduced Wednesday would not alter the present practice of having the major political parties nominate the contenders separately in a statewide primary.

His bill is designed to implement a constitutional amendment calling for the tandem election of the two top officials. It was approved by voters in the June primary last year.

Tiger Girls Clinch Tie For SCOL Crown

Circleville's girls traveled to Greenfield Wednesday night and handed the McClain girls a convincing 53-18 setback to run their South Central Ohio League record to 5-0 and clinch at least a tie for the league crown.

The Tigers will host Miami Trace tonight at the high school with the reserve game getting underway at 6:30 p.m. A win by the Tigers will give them sole possession of the league crown and run their win streak to nine straight.

Circleville led all the way with an 8-5 edge at the end of the first quarter, a 27-10 margin at halftime and a 39-18 advantage at the third period buzzer.

Coach Joy O'Brien had everyone into the game and during the last period they held the McClain girls scoreless.

"I am extremely pleased with the way our girls have turned the season around after dropping their opening game," coach Joy O'Brien commented.

"We have now won eight straight games and assured ourselves of at least a tie for the championship.

"These young ladies are in a class by themselves and it has been my pleasure to work with them," coach

Joy O'Brien said.

Sue Frericks led the Tigers with 14 points, Kathy Fanale added 10, Natalie Martin netted eight, Sue Stevenson hooped six, Sue Radcliff added five, Mary Wyatt and Brenna Lintner each sank three while Michelle Nolan and Ann Titus both had two. Wanda Boyd came off the bench and turned in a fine floor performance.

The Tigers continued their hot shooting with 20 of 47 from the floor for 43 per cent and converted 13 of 19 for 68 per cent.

Greenfield was seven of 53 from the hardwood for 13 per cent and hit two of 11 from the foul line for 18 per cent.

Circleville won the battle of the boards, 43-19, with Sue Frericks, Sue Stevenson and Natalie Martin leading the way.

The Tigers had 18 turnovers while McClain misplayed the ball 26 times.

Circleville's reserves made it a double win with a 21-10 decision over Greenfield to run their season mark to 4-4.

Juli Schneider paced the Red and Black with 13 points and nine rebounds, Karen Lundberg added four points while Melissa Allison and Penny Perkins each netted two.

Cleveland Barons Revived; Lose Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Surprise! The Cleveland Barons played a hockey game Wednesday night.

Hardly anyone showed up and the Barons lost again. No surprise there.

Brian Spencer scored twice and added an assist as the Buffalo Sabres made off with a 5-3 National Hockey League victory after the Barons received an 11th-hour reprieve when the league's Board of Governors, the NHL Players' Association and majority owner Mel Swig came up with a $1.3 million infusion of cash that will permit the financially crippled franchise to complete the season.

The Barons managed a 2-1 lead on first-period goals by Dave Gardner and Jim Neilson but the Sabres took control in the second period when Gil Perreault tied it and Spencer put them ahead to stay. The game drew only 3,185, Cleveland's second smallest crowd in a season of small crowds.

"I thought we skated very well," said Cleveland Coach Jack Evans. "The game was a real surprise to them. They were certainly not ready to play."

It was a big win for the Sabres as they opened a fourpoint lead over runner-up Boston in the Adams Division when the Bruins lost to the Minnesota North Stars 2-1. Elsewhere, the Montreal Canadiens downed the Atlanta Flames 4-2, the New York Rangers edged the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-4 and the Chicago Black Hawks beat the Detroit Red Wings 5-2.

In the World Hockey Association, the Phoenix Roadrunners trimmed the Winnipeg Jets 6-3 and the Calgary Cowboys shaded the Houston Aeros 3-2.

8 All-Ohioans Plan Ohio State Careers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eight All-Ohioans are among the 22 known high school prospects Ohio State has landed in a bid for a record sixth straight Big Ten Conference football title this fall.

Following his annual custom, Woody Hayes, the Buckeyes' 64-year-old coach, is not revealing the list of 28 players he has signed to national letters of intent.

Hayes supposedly has two more blue chippers as potential signees, one from Florida and the other from New Jersey, which would put Ohio State at the limit of 30 this year.

Preparing his 27th Ohio State squad, Hayes has picked off five stars who were first team on The Associated Press Class AAA all-state team.

They are running back Doug Donley of Cambridge, defensive backs Ray Ellis of Canton McKinley and Norm Burrows of Portsmouth, middle guard

Terry Bach of Centerville and Todd Bell, Middletown's versatile linebacker.

Second team AAA All-Ohioans headed for the Buckeyes are Luther Henson, a defensive tackle from Sandusky, Mansfield Senior running back Cliff Belmer and defensive end David Allen of Warren Harding.

Bell, 6-foot-2 and 185 pounds, the only Ohioan ever to long jump more than 25 feet, is perhaps Hayes' most prized instate catch. The linebacker, who will become an Ohio State safety, has won the state prep long jump championship the last two years.

"He's a unique athlete who can play football and track very well. It would be a shame if he could not compete in both even though it might hurt him a little bit in football," Hayes said of Bell.

One of Hayes' most productive areas, Warren, supplied three more recruits, brothers John and Ernie Epitropoulos, 61 and 215 pounds, and Allen. They played for Warren Harding.

That will make seven Warren players with the Buckeyes. The others are brothers Aaron and Tom Brown, from Warren Western Reserve, and Tyrone Hicks and Kelton Dansler, Warren Harding products.

Noe And Lanham Win NAIA Honors

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Jim Noe of Mid-Ohio Conference champion Rio Grande has won the first Larry Arrington Award as the Most Valuable Player in NAIA District 22 basketball.

Noe, a 6-foot-5 senior, averaged 22 points and almost 14 rebounds to win the award, named for the Malone College basketball player who died of cancer.

Art Vanham, who guided Rio Grande to 21 victories in 24 games this season, was named the District 22 Coach of the Year by his fellow mentors.

Noe was a unanimous selection of the coaches for the district all-star team that also included another three-time pick, Kenny Smith of Central State.

Dale Creager of Findlay and Dave Repp of Bluffton were picked for the second successive season. The other all-stars were Gil Price of Rio Grande, Kevin Dilworth of Defiance, Tom Volarich and Ray Tatum of Malone, Ben Fowler of Central State and Wilmington's Tim Wilson.

Since pitcher Tom Seaver broke into the National League in 1966, the New York Mets have had six different managers.

In 1919 jockey Johnny Loftus became the first to win the triple crown in the thoroughbred racing. He rode Sir Barton.

Tigers Invade Braves' Country Tonight

It will be double action for the Circleville Tigers this week when they travel to Logan Elm tonight and host Miami Trace Saturday at the Mill St. gym.

They should be hanging from the rafters tonight at Spangler Memorial Gym when the Tigers and the Braves meet in what should be a real donnybrook.

In the first meeting of the season between these two teams, the Tigers handed the Braves a 66-55 setback in a game that was a lot closer than the score indicates.

It will be the explosive offense of coach Butch Kobel's cagers going against the sticky man to man pressure defense of coach Jim Bailey's Tigers.

Both teams have come on strong as the season rolled along with the Logan Elm now holding a 11-4 record overall while Circleville has now built up a 10-5 mark.

The records put the team on an even basis which should mean that there will be plenty of fireworks and the fans will certainly get their money's worth.

One thing is for sure — Neither coach will have to spend much time on a pep talk because it just isn't necessary when these teams collide — Both will be sky high and ready to go.

Logan Elm coach Kobel feels that the Tigers are a good defensive club while Circleville coach Bailey feels that the Braves are an exceptionally strong offensive group — Only the final buzzer will be able to tell which bunch will prevail.

"Circleville is a stronger club now that they have moved Frank Merrill to a forward spot," coach Kobel commented.

"The last time we played each other earlier in the season, they were able to defense us right out of our offense. This time we have to get into our offense and stay in it," Kobel stated.

Starting for the Logan Elm Braves will be: Dan Hill, Mark Skinner, Jeff Collins, Terry Wright and Chuck Cave.

"The fans should look forward to an extremely hard fought, aggressive game between two teams that have been playing very well during the last half of the season," coach Bailey stated.

"Logan Elm presents a great challenge to our defense as they are an explosive basketball team and we are looking forward to a great game,"

Bailey said.

Taking the floor for Circleville in both games this week will be: Tom Taylor, Roy Huffer, Brent Wright, Frank Merrill and Toren Bensonhaver with a lot of support from their "fireman" Eric Pontious.

Miami Trace will bring a club into Roundtown Saturday night that is loaded with talent.

They are a good, quick offensive oriented, fast breaking team. They like to play give and go basketball with a weaving movement.

Their main defense is a pressure man to man but will move into a 2-3 zone when the situation merits it.

The key men for the Panthers are: Brent Dunn, 5-foot-10; Art Schlichter, 6-foot-3; Dan Gifford, 6-foot-2; Bill Hanners, 6-foot-4; Glenn Cobb, 6-foot-3; and Joe Black, 6-foot-2.

"We always look forward to playing a team of the caliber of Miami Trace," coach Bailey stated. Their overall ability presents a great challenge to our young men.

"The keys to victory should be our ability to control the ball and penetrate their defense for the good shot. And our ability to limit them to only one pressure shot in each possession," Bailey commented.

The reserve game tonight at Logan Elm will get underway at 6:30 p.m. as will the reserve game Saturday night.

Circleville's Fun and Fundamental teams, fifth and sixth grades, will play during halftime of the Reserve game Saturday night.

Finley And Kuhn Clash Over Lindblad

CHICAGO (AP) — He's sued Bowie Kuhn for $3.5 million and called him "the village idiot," but Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley has amended that estimate of baseball's commissioner.

Finley now says Kuhn is "the nation's idiot" after the commissioner blocked, at least temporarily, his sale of pitcher Paul Lindblad to Texas.

Kuhn notified Finley Wednesday that the sale of the veteran reliever has been shelved until after a hearing next Wednesday in Dallas.

"Pending resolution of these two points, Lindblad will remain on the Oakland roster and should not work out or engage in any contract dealings with Texas," Kuhn said in a telegram from his New York office.

Finley wasted little time in blasting Kuhn again but said he and his attorney will attend the hearing "only because there is no telling what this man (Kuhn) might attempt to do." He said he planned a formal response to Kuhn today.

The man who bought Lindblad for $400,000, though, Texas Rangers owner Brad Corbett, said he has no intention of meeting with Kuhn to discuss the sale.

"The whole thing is ridiculous. I see no reason for my appearance at such a meeting. If Kuhn wants to void the deal, that's his business. It's between him and Finley," he said.

Finley said in a telephone interview that Kuhn knows he doesn't have the authority to block the deal.

Finley has sued Kuhn over the commissioner's voiding the sales last June of A's stars Joe Rudi, Rollie Fingers and Vida Blue for $3.5 million, and results of the $3.5 million suit in federal court are expected in mid-March.

Little Tigers Gain Finals In Tourney

Circleville's eighth grade cage team downed Washington C.H., 37-19, and stopped Hillsboro, 45-32, to gain the finals in the McClain Junior High Tournament.

The Tigers will meet the winner of the Madison Plains-Wilmington game 5:30 p.m. Saturday in the championship fray.

Circleville's defense came on strong against the Blue Lions as it limited them to two points in the first half.

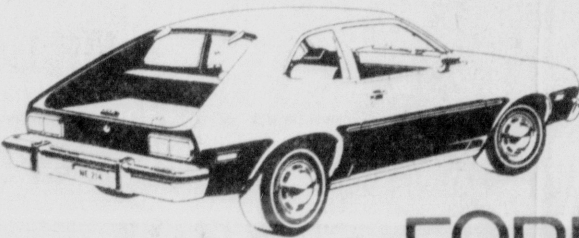

Bob Milstead paced the Tigers with 16 points, Brad Fisher and Tony Zimmerman each added seven, Brian Davis, Greg Greenlee and Steve Moore each tallied two while Dallas Hettinger had one.

After being tied at 26-26 at the end of the third frame, the Tigers roared back with 19 points in the final quarter while holding Hillsboro to six.

Bob Milstead led the attack with 14 points, Brad Fisher and Todd Huffer each added six, Brian Davis and Tony Zimmerman both netted five, Stuart Payne tallied four, Phil Dickey hooped three and Greg Greenlee had two.

Coach Ty Ankrom's little Tigers are now 8-3 on the season.

Clemson Beats Duke, 67-63

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Here's today's quickie quiz, college hoop fans:

Question — Bill Foster (a) will (b) won't be sorry to see Clemson's Wayne "Tree" Rollins finish his career.

Answer — (a). Also (b).

Explanation — Duke's Bill Foster will; Clemson's Bill Foster won't.

Rollins, a 7-foot-1 senior, scored 16 points, grabbed 15 rebounds, blocked 10 shots and made five steals as 19th-ranked Clemson beat Duke 67-63 Wednesday night and reached the 20-victory level for the first time ever.

"It's no big secret it was just too much 'Tree' Rollins, especially in the second half," said Duke Coach Bill Foster. "When a man gets 10 blocked shots, it also gives you 15 scares. I don't know what more you can expect out of a guy."

By winning, Clemson pulled within one-half game of pacesetter North Carolina and Wake Forest in the torrid Atlantic Coast Conference race. Colon Abraham was the Tigers' high scorer with 20 points, including the first nine, while Jim Spanarkel topped Duke with 21.

Clemson had a 13-point lead with 7½ minutes left in the first half but was held to four points the rest of the way as Duke outscored the Tigers 13-4.

Said Clemson Coach Bill Foster: "It wasn't pretty and we had our chances in the first half to break it open, but we missed too many free throws and easy shots."

Meanwhile, ninth-ranked North Carolina climbed into a tie for the ACC lead with a 90-73 rout of North Carolina State. In the only other game involving a member of The Associated Press' Top Twenty, No. 15 Syracuse trounced Niagara 106-82. Elsewhere, Kansas State nailed down its third Big Eight crown in six years with a 68-55 decision over Oklahoma.

Phil Ford paced North Carolina over N.C. State with 24 points and teamed with Jeff Wolf to help the Tar Heels open a 12-point lead in the first half. The bulge reached a whopping 30 points with 6½ minutes to go as the Tar Heels shot a blistering 64 per cent in the second half.

Jimmy Williams scored 14 of his 18 points in the first half as Syracuse downed Niagara. Williams, a 5-10 senior guard, had help from 6-11 freshman Roosevelt Bouie with 16 points and Dale Shackelford with 14. Vern Allen's 23 couldn't prevent Niagara from falling.

Freshman Curtis Redding scored of his game-high 20 points as Kansas State outscored Oklahoma 15-6 in the first seven minutes of the second half to build a 29-24 advantage into a 44-30 spread. Oklahoma, which has never won in K-State's 27-year-old Ahearn Field House, could get no closer than 10 the rest of the way.

A K-State loss and a Missouri win would have produced a tie in the Big Eight but Missouri was upset by last-place Iowa State 95-86 and dropped into a third-place tie with Oklahoma. ISU's Andrew Parker and Leonard Allen combined for 45 points and Parker, who had 24, iced the victory with four free throws in the final minute.

A number of top independents kept rolling. Notre Dame boosted its record to 18-6 with a 111-86 romp over Loyola of Chicago as Duck Williams scored a career-high 30 points, four free throws by Glenn Sanders in the final seconds helped 18-5 St. Bonaventure turn back Fairfield 73-68, 19-7 St. John's whipped Boston College 92-69 behind Glen Williams' 25 points and 20-5 North Texas State outlasted Centenary 107-104 in double overtime.

Essie Hollis with 30 points and Sanders with 19 helped St. Bonaventure come back from a 42-34 halftime deficit.

Notre Dame also trailed in the early going but, after falling behind 24-13, the Irish went ahead with a 25-10 tear. It was the most points for Notre Dame this season.

Rockets Upset Central, 69-61

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Basketball coaches Dick Parfitt of Central Michigan and Bob Nichols of Toledo agreed: The Rockets aren't dead yet in the Mid-American Conference.

"Toledo is opening a door for themselves in the league race," Parfitt observed after the Rockets upset Central 69-61 Wednesday night.

"We still have a chance in this conference," Nichols said.

The coaches spoke while the Eastern Michigan-Northern Illinois game was still in progress and unaware that the league-leading Huskies were being upended 75-70.

That vaulted Miami (10-3) back into the No. 1 spot by virtue of its 76-66 victory over Western Michigan, while Northern dropped into a second-place tie with Central Michigan, both 9-3, and Toledo climbed to just one game off the pace at 9-4.

Nichols noted that the Rockets can further enhance their revived title hopes "if we play as well as we're capable of" when they host Northern Illinois next Saturday.

Good second efforts turned out to be the key as Toledo overcame Central's sizzling 77 per cent shooting in the first half and 61 per cent for the game. The Rockets controlled the offensive boards 20-3.

"There was only one story to this game and it was the offensive boards," Parfitt said. "Toledo hit the boards hard and the ball bounced their way because they were aggressive. Hitting like we did in the first half we should have had a sizeable lead."

Central led 38-32 at the half, but Toledo outscored the Chippewas 9-2 at the start of the second period to take the lead and never trailed again.

Ted Williams poured in 30 points for the Rockets. Ben Poquette was top man for Central with 18.

Eastern Michigan's Hurons, who entered the game with only one victory in 12 MAC contests, forced Northern Illinois into overtime and then led throughout the period.

Bill Weaver, who was tops for the winners with 26 points, sank a 16-footer with four seconds left in regulation play to tie the game 61-61. Northern's Matt Hicks scored a game-high 27 points.

Miami had to battle from behind to kill the defending champion Broncos' flickering title hopes. The Redskins trailed until late in the second half when, led by substitute center Bernard Newman with 18 points, they scored 10 unanswered points to take command. Western (6-6) was led by Archie Aldridge with 19 points.

In the other MAC game played Wednesday night, Kent State finished strong to down Bowling Green 76-68, outscoring the Falcons 14-6 in the last seven minutes. The Golden Flashes, climbing into a three-way tie with Bowling Green and Ohio University for sixth place in the standings, were paced by Burrell McGhee with 26 points.

In other Ohio college basketball action Wednesday night, Xavier maintained its domination of cross-river rival Northern Kentucky 67-65 behind the 20-point performance of Dale Haarmann.

Dudley Murphy pitched in 25 points to lead John Carroll to a 74-63 triumph over Presidents Conference foe Case Western Reserve.

Youngstown State humiliated Cleveland State 90-65 as Jeff Covington poured in 36 points.

Wright State whipped Akron 93-79 as Bob Schaefer and Bob Cook combined for 46 points, while Shawnee State edged Wilberforce 80-78.

Werblin Sees Pro Sports Woes

NEW YORK (AP) — Professional sports has become a giant octopus threatening to devour its own tentacles, warns David "Sonny" Werblin, the man behind America's richest and busiest playpen.

"The thing that bothers me most about sports today is that there are so many events and they're all so expensive," adds the 66-year-old boss of the Meadowlands, the $340 million complex across the Hudson River in New Jersey.

"I sometimes get the feeling that they are feeding on themselves — football, baseball, basketball, horse racing, hockey, all with overlapping schedules gnawing away at the spectator dollar.

"No doubt about it, they are forcing a choice on the part of the customer. It has become a survival of the fittest. In inflation, how high is up?"

Werblin, known in the theatrical world as the onetime talenthunting giant of the Music Corporation of America and in sports as the man who signed Joe Namath to a $400,000 contract, carries the title of chairman of the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority.

The sprawling complex, which includes the 76,000-seat Giants Stadium and a modern harness track, has been grabbing off headlines lately as a threat to New York as the sports capital of the East.

After picking up the homeless Giants football team, the Meadowlands came close to plucking the New York Jets from Shea Stadium — a move thwarted by negotiations and compromises on the mayoral level.

On Wednesday, Werblin announced the Meadowlands would host two old football rivalries in 1977 — Notre Dame-Army on Oct. 15 and Army-Pitt on Nov. 12, reviving memories of Knute Rockne, Jock Sutherland and Red Blaik.

Already the harness track is the most successful in the country, having drawn 2.2 million spectators since Sept. 1 and an average mutuel handle of $1.6 million a night. This winter, its crowds have doubled those of the Aqueduct thoroughbred track in New York.

Another report this week was that the U.S. Tennis Association, disenchanted with Forest Hills, might take its 96-year-old championships across the river.

"Our facilities are limitless,"

Werblin said. "While our stadium is geared for football, there is no reason it cannot be used also for soccer, big championship fights and even tennis. There is not an obstructed view of the field in the entire stadium.

"Personally, I think soccer is the coming sport."

Werblin is a lean, bespectacled native of Brooklyn's Flatbush who started out as a news reporter, became a talent agent and moved up the MCA ladder to a point that his stock alone was once placed at $11 million.

He was instrumental in putting together the Ed Sullivan and Jackie Gleason shows and staffing such early TV hits as Wagon Train, My Three Sons, Bachelor Father, the Virginian and Sergeant Bilko.

After leaving MCA, he bought the debt-ridden New York Titans of the old American Football League for $1 million, transformed them into the Jets and signed Namath in January, 1965, for $400,000 in a staggering move that changed the face of pro football.

Henschen, Allen Top MAC Players

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohio Northern's Mark Henschen and Napoleon Allen of Capital have been named the Ohio Athletic Conference Players of the Week.

Henschen led Northern to a pair of victories last week, including a 77-73 upset over OAC Northern Division leader Wooster. The 6-foot-2 senior scored 19 points in that victory and 23 in a 65-62 triumph over Heidelberg.

Allen's last-second basket gave Capital a 50-48 victory over Marietta. The 6-4 sophomore hit 17 points in that game and added 26 points and grabbed 11 rebounds in an 88-84 loss to Ohio Wesleyan.

Ron Pritchard Ponders Future

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ron Pritchard, a four-year starting linebacker for the Cincinnati Bengals, says he is not sure where he fits in the club's plans after undergoing a second knee operation in six months.

And the eight-year veteran said he would not be surprised if he were traded.

"As a tradeable commodity, I'd likely bring as much or more than anyone at linebacker without hurting the team," said Pritchard, who missed most of last season with a knee injury.

He said a change of scenery might be healthy for him.

Pistons Top Lakers, 102-101

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Lanier knows how to win games but not how to influence people.

"Everything around here I do is taken for granted," said Lanier after he played "Beat the Clock" and won for the second game in a row. "If I had missed that basket, I would have been a goat for five games."

Lanier hit a 12-foot baseline jumper over Kareem AbdulJabbar with nine seconds left to give the Detroit Pistons a 102-101 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers in the National Basketball Association Wednesday night.

On Sunday, it was Lanier's hook shot with 16 seconds remaining that tilted the decision in Detroit's favor over Phoenix.

"That's what he gets paid for and he comes through every night," said an appreciative Detroit Coach Herb Brown.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the New York Nets surprised the Denver Nuggets 91-88, the New Orleans Jazz downed the Milwaukee Bucks 106-96, the Washington Bullets beat the Indiana Pacers 109-101 and the Seattle SuperSonics edged the Kansas City Kings 94-93.

Nolan Ryan of the California Angels marked up 325 strike-outs in 284 innings in 1976.

New Fishing Records Made In '76

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New Ohio fish records verified for 1976 ranged from the monumental to the miniscule.

On the upper end of the size scale was a 29-pound 8-ounce striped bass caught in Grand Lake St. Marys on May 7 by Mike McMurray of Wapakoneta.

Also in a definite lunger category was the 13-pound 2-ounce largemouth bass taken from a farm pond on May 26 by Roy Landsberger of Kensington, Ohio.

In the cellar, size-wise, was a 1-pound 2-ounce sauger caught in Maumee Bay April 30 by Gary R. Swales of Toledo. As a species, sauger rarely exceed seven pounds, so even large specimens are not giants among fishes. Three to five-pound saugers are worth bragging about.

The recognized a 1-pound 2-ounce sauger was recognized last year is that 1976 was the first year the species has been eligible for record consideration.

Until last year Ohio had 28 record categories, from bass to walleye, for hook-and-line anglers and four for bowfishermen. Sauger was the 29th. It was added in 1976 because of the success the Ohio Wildlife Division has achieved in reintroducing the species in Lake Erie.

If experience with striped bass entries is an example, records in the sauger category will be broken regularly over the next several years.

The striper was officially recognized for record purposes in 1973 after sport fishermen began catching the new import from such stocked impoundments as West Branch Reservoir and Grand Lake St. Marys.

The first striped bass record was a 15-pounder. New records were then set in three successive years by stripers weighing 17 pounds, 7 ounces then 25 pounds, 4 ounces and, finally, 29 pounds, 8 ounces last year.

Many fishermen believe the new largemouth record will stand for a long time. A 13-pound fish is enormous for Ohio where cold weather limits fish growth compared with the year-round feeding cycles of southern bass.

If Landsberger's fish does reign more than two years it will be unusual in terms of recent history. The largemouth record has been broken every other year for the past 10 years. Records were set in 1968, 1970, 1972, 1974 and 1976. They increased from 9 pounds, 8 ounces; 9 pounds, 9 ounces; 10 pounds, 2 ounces, and 10 pounds, 11 ounces before the big jump to Landsberger's 13-pound 2-ounce bigmouth.

Records are not uncommon in the Buckeye State. Forty marks have fallen since 1968, according to the official list maintained by Outdoor Writers of Ohio, Inc.

In each of the nine years at least one record fell. Eight new records were established in 1972, the busiest of the period. The fewest changes came in 1971 when only one fish was recognized.

Size is determined according to a formula which gives one point for each ounce of weight and one point for each one-half inch in length.

For a free list of all Ohio record fish and a form on which record applications can be made, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Jim Daubel, Box 311, Fremont, Ohio 43420.

Ex-Marshall Indicted In Slaying

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Twelve days after U.S. Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell ordered an investigation into the shotgun murder of a Mexican-American construction worker on a deserted country road, a former Texas marshal has been indicted for violating the victim's civil rights.

Frank Hayes, 53, who was marshal in Castroville, is serving a 2-to-10 year sentence for aggravated assault in the case.

A U.S. grand jury in San Antonio returned a two-count civil rights indictment Wednesday against Hayes, his wife, Dorothy, and his sister-in-law, Alice Baldwin.

The indictment said Hayes, by shooting Richard Morales to death with a shotgun on Sept. 14, 1975, violated Morales' constitutional right not to be deprived of liberty without due process. The women were named as accessories after the fact because they transported Morales' body 400 miles and buried it near Carthage in east Texas.

The case was brought to Bell's attention by Mexican-Americans and Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill who protested the assault verdict and sentence.

Bell then issued a statement on Feb.

11 saying, "Because of the exceptional circumstances of the case, I have instructed the civil rights division (of the Justice Department) to present the matter to a federal grand jury although state prosecution resulted in conviction."

"The allegations of abuse of authority by a law enforcement officer are so serious that they would merit presentation to a federal grand jury even had a death not resulted ..."

Clark Lawyer Loses Privilege

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Supreme Court has indefinitely suspended Robert E. Renshaw's right to practice law in Ohio.

The court accepted the recommendation of the Ohio Bar Association in making the ruling Wednesday. The Clark County lawyer was accused of three counts of misconduct in handling estates.

The court did not call for disbarment on grounds that there were "mitigating circumstances" and that Renshaw had made restitution.

Industrial Bill Goes To Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has sent the legislature a bill exempting industries switching from natural gas to alternative fuels, including coal, from the state tangible property and sales tax.

Rhodes said Wednesday in a letter to legislative leaders, accompanying his bill, that it also would provide for exemption of a portion of the corporate franchise tax for industries making the conversion.

He did not estimate the impact of revenue losses to state and local governments, but said "early enactment of the bill will be a step toward effective energy use, and the preservation of thousands of jobs."

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

If you haven't been to the library in the last week, there's a surprise in store for you. We've put new furniture not only in the check-out and references area, but in the children's room as well.

The children's room now extends into its adjacent hall, with new shelving allowing us to put children's history and geography books with the rest of the juvenile collection. All juvenile nonfiction and younger fiction has been rearranged slightly, so if you can't find your normal browsing spots just ask!

Check out the changes for yourself 2 p.m. Saturday when you come in for our movie hour. This week's features include "The Selfish Giant" (26 min.), an animated version of the picture book, and "The Case of the Cosmic Comics," a "Homer Price" story (28 min.). All children are welcome!

Browsers will want to take note of our latest acquisitions including "When Everyone Was Fast Asleep" by Tomie DePaola. A whimsical excursion into a child's dream world, this book features gently shaded illustrations of a simple text printed in large 28-point type.

On the lighter side is "The Sick Cow," a rollicking, silly story about a cow who barks, meows, and quacks until a vet specialist flies in to the rescue.

For a story of a Scottish boy and his pet calf, older readers can try "Temba Dawn." Here, there is "expression of the depth of feeling that can develop between boy and animal... and some probing into the meaning of life." (OVAL) Parents should know that this book also deals with the mating of animals and the birth of a calf.

If the approach of March makes you dream of spring breezes and outdoor activity, our two new kite books are just for you! "Let's Make a Kite!" (745.59) tells how to make a simple kite. Fully illustrated with large type and easy text, this book also gives one practice in using the metric system.

For an introduction to the aerodynamic principles which enable a kite to fly, try "Why Kites Fly" (629.132) Color photos. Grades 4+.

Whether used as supplementary reading for social studies or just for fun "Colonial Farm" is worth more than a quick peek. In this book, text and photographs present a picture of life on a self-sufficient farm in colonial Virginia. Turkey Run Farm, an 18th century interpretive project of the National Park Service, serves as the model farm in this work. See you Saturday!

'SHUT YOUR FACE' — Says Carnes (Marty Sharrett) to Ali Hakim (Jim Browning) in a scene from "Oklahoma", the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical comedy that will open on the Memorial Hall stage 8:30 p.m. March 3. The Roundtown Players production will continue with 8:30 p.m. performances March 4, 5, 9, 10, 11, and 12, and a 2:30 p.m. matinee Sunday March 6. Reserved tickets may be purchased at the Memorial Hall box office from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. or by calling 474-5856.

Two People Injured In Accident

Two people suffered minor injuries in a two-car accident 3:30 p.m. Wednesday on Matville Road, three-tenths of a mile north of Gulick Road.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal referred Marshall G. Redman, 86, Route 1, Orient, to a doctor for treatment of right arm and shoulder injuries, and Ethel Burris, 71, Grove City to a physician for treatment of leg injuries.

Deputy Deal said Redman was driving north on the Matville Road and was in the process of making a left turn into a private drive when he pulled into the path of a southbound car driven by George G. Burris, 69, Grove City.

Redman was charged with failing to yield the right of way. Deputy Deal said Burris' car skidded 96 feet before crashing into the Redman auto.

Need For Blood Donors, Headquarters Discussed

The need for blood donors, housing for chapter headquarters and coordination for disasters highlighted the meeting Wednesday evening of Pickaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mel Ehrlich presided and led discussion on the services provided by the chapter during the recent disaster caused by the severe weather and those needed in the near future.

Etha Mae Wolford, director, told of the many people giving service and materials for victims of the weather and how despite the very cold weather they came to give blood and filled the quota which she thought could not be accomplished. Type O positive blood is needed in large amounts at this time.

Special recognition was given to John Leist who coordinated relief for people either stranded on highways, in their homes or unable to return to their homes due to road conditions. REACT, EMT and all CBER's volunteered their services and delivered food, fuel and medicine to many persons. Many individuals brought food, blankets and clothing to headquarters which were given to those in need. Businesses provided many necessities and offered service.

During the recent blizzard Marty and Trudy Sharrett provided shelter at Pickaway Arms. They kept the fireplaces going for warmth and served 255 meals at cost for people who were stranded.

Contributions from private citizens and organizations almost equaled the amount needed for expenditures from the chapter. This did not include the food and blankets given by individuals concerned about the people who were unable to return to their homes. One teenage girl made cupcakes and iced them attractively as her contribution. Recognition of each person who contributed in large and small ways was greatly appreciated and impossible to recognize individually. However it indicates the concern for others shown by local residents.

Area fuel distributors delivered oil and coal wherever possible and a helicopter rescued two families from the New Holland area. Community Methodist Church members provided a large amount of food and monetary gifts and Second Baptist Church contributed funds and supplies.

Pat Clark conducted a volunteer service program at Berger Hospital on Feb. 8. Plans for recognition of volunteers are being planned for March 5.

Teacher training programs in Child Care have been conducted. Others are planned for March 2, 9, 16 and 30. The hope is to have at least one teacher for each school in the county and city completing the course.

Housing for headquarters is a continuing problem. There is a possibility the owner of the present location will make necessary repairs and continue renting the space to the chapter but more convenient quarters are being sought.

David Shank has acquired the services of a director for the Deer-creek Dam swimming program and is mapping plans for other locations.

First Aid courses under the direction of Maxine Hughes are progressing. Standard first aid personal courses will be directed by John Stebelton. A basic course at the YMCA will be conducted by Ginny Sherman and John Leist will lead the multi media course for members of the Chamber of Commerce.

At the closing of the meeting Mrs. Wolford expressed her appreciation to all who have contributed and continue their service to humanity.

Amin Claims Invasion Readied

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin's regime said today an invasion force was reported in Tanzania six miles from the Ugandan border.

Radio Uganda said a military spokesman warned that if the Tanzanians "attempt to enter Ugandan territory by even an inch," Amin's armed forces, "particularly the marines and air force, would strike deep" into Tanzania in retaliation.

However, the spokesman, believed to be Amin himself, said the border would remain open and there was no cause for alarm.

Uganda's relations with Tanzania have been strained since Amin seized power six years ago from President Milton Obote, and President Julius Nyerere gave Obote asylum in Tanzania. Amin's forces fought a brief and successful war in September 1972 against 1,000 of Obote's supporters from Tanzania. This week the Ugandan dictator accused Nyerere of helping Obote in the plot against him in which Amin charged the Anglican archbishop of Uganda and two Ugandan cabinet ministers were involved.

Amin claimed that the archbishop, Janani Luvum, and the two ministers were killed in an automobile wreck last week after their arrest. But there have been numerous unconfirmable reports that they were murdered.

Amin told foreign correspondents in Kampala on Wednesday that plans for the plot against him called for paratroopers from the United States, Britain and Israel to be airlifted from an aircraft carrier and dropped into key Ugandan towns. The U. S. State Department said the charge was absurd.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The mild weather of the past few days was to continue today, accompanied by rain throughout Ohio. The National Weather Service warned that some rivers in northern Ohio have the potential for flooding because of ice jams.

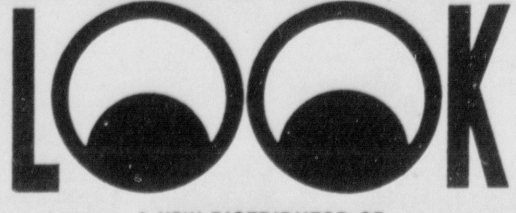

The mild weather has removed practically all of the snow cover but showers could add to the waters backing up behind the jams. The weather service said the greatest threat now is in northeastern Ohio where the highest probability of showers remains.

A cold front moved into the western part of the state today, easing the chance of showers there. Improvement was expected in eastern Ohio after the cold front moved to the east this afternoon.

Highs today were expected to range in the 50s in northern Ohio to the 60s in the south, dropping back into the 30s tonight.

A strong air flow around a storm center moving north through Minnesota touched off strong gusty winds across Ohio today.

Your Views On Horoscope Television

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A day for building up double strength in certain areas. Tighten up your schedule, eliminate flaws, loopholes for error. Thus, "battered down," you can steer your course more successfully.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Study trends, new resources for tapping. Develop your top-flight faculties and you can make this day one to remember.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your native intuition and self-reliance stimulated now. And both will be needed if you are to solve some possible "tricky" situations. Don't become anxious, however.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Stellar aspects now suggest the revival of old projects if still feasible or the launching of new ones - to better your course and outlook. Choose wisely, noting all potentials.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Stepping out of the picture is no way to avert difficulty or tension. Step right in there with your good will and ingenuity, and you can conquer all.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): If you've had difficulty in launching a cherished project because of opposition, you'll get a chance to prove a significant point after noon - and barriers will fall.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Avoid a tendency toward nervous tension. Don't try to rush things and don't fret, even though friends and (or) associates may prove annoying at times.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Everything may not go as planned, but revisions could prove beneficial in the long run. Innately, you are keenly perceptive, so look ahead!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Given the right impetus by you, your vehicle of success can speed ahead unimpeded. Smart initiative and enthusiastic efforts will pay off now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Develop those unique ideas that so often come to your bright mind but are too quickly tossed aside because of your conservatism or hesitancy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A fine day for personal betterment, social affairs and long-range planning. Shun a tendency toward extravagance, however.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Don't let petty annoyances get you down. Stand back and examine matters carefully, evaluate situations perceptively. Then you can cope.

YOU BORN TODAY, like most Pisceans, have a strong affinity for the artistic but you also have a very practical streak which, coupled with your remarkable intuition, gives you the ability to put your creative abilities to the best use. Music and literature are the best outlets for your talents but, even if you do not adopt one of these as a life work, you may develop into a connoisseur in either field. Paradoxically, with such artistic leanings, you are also a whiz with figures, and could become an outstanding financier. But here you MUST be realistic. The Piscean is often superstitious and may act on hunches or "omens" - which could prove disastrous. Other fields in which you could excel: shipbuilding and shipowning, statesmanship, the theater, painting and sculpture.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For eight days, in eight cities, the national Parent-Teacher Association has held much-publicized hearings to see how roused the public is against TV violence and its possible effect on kids.

The last hearing with nearly 60 speakers, from CBS censor to social scientist to teacher, drew more than 600 persons at one point here Tuesday.

Now, Grace Baisinger and her colleagues on the 10-member PTA panel running the hearings will go home to sift through and study the mass of facts, figures, claims and counterclaims they've compiled.

From that, says Mrs. Baisinger, a Washington, D.C., housewife who is a first vice president of the PTA, will come a report — she doesn't know when it'll be out — and an "action plan" on ways to curb TV violence.

Could the plan call for a national boycott of shows deemed excessively violent or sponsors who often advertise on such programs?

"At this time we wouldn't exclude anything," smiled Mrs. Baisinger, a friendly, middle-aged woman whose daughter is grown, and whose husband is an attorney for the National Labor Relations Board.

"During the hearings we had calls for everything from throwing out the TV set to, as the Rev. Jesse Jackson — the Chicago civil rights activist — put it, holding demonstrations if everything else fails.

"But as to what actually will be recommended, we'll have to wait for the report."

A preliminary report on the hearings will be given the PTA's annual convention in nearby Anaheim, Calif., on May 15, she added.

Mrs. Baisinger, who said she attended all eight of the PTA's hearings, said "what we heard most frequently was, 'We're fed up with the quality of television — and violence in particular.'"

Okay, the PTA, the American Medical Association, the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting are among the major groups mobilizing to curb TV violence. But have they the support of average viewers?

Mrs. Baisinger said she thinks so, citing the large audiences and wide range of speakers she said have shown up the PTA's eight hearings.

But Roy Danish director of the New York-based Television Information Office, the industry's public relations arm, has his doubts.

"This (violence in TV entertainment programs) has been an issue a long time," he said. "But not among the public, although it's certainly a greater issue among organized groups than ever before."

Bellow To Give Lecture

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saul Bellow, who won the Nobel Prize for Literature and the Pulitzer Prize for Fiction in 1976, will present the Jefferson Lecture in the Humanities sponsored by the National Council on the Humanities.

Bellow, author of eight novels and professor of English at the University of Chicago, will give two lectures in March, using the American writer and his material as his theme.

Previous Jefferson lecturers include Lionel Trilling, Erik Erikson and Robert Penn Warren.

Reds Set Training

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, with a chance at becoming the first National League club to win three straight titles, open spring training in Tampa, Fla. Friday when an estimated 30 pitchers and catchers report.

Three of the pitchers are still unsigned. Starter Gary Nolan, one of the club's three 15-game winners; relief ace Rawly Eastwick and Pat Darcy are among five unsigned players on the 40-man roster.

Workouts for the batters, including a number of nonroster, begin Saturday. It will be the Reds' first look at newcomers Woody Fryman and Dale Murray, who were acquired from Montreal in exchange for slugger Tony Perez and reliever Will McEnaney.

Veterans Johnny Bench and Bill Plummer will be joined by minor leaguers Don Werner and Jeff Goven. Manager Sparky Anderson has indicated he may keep a third catcher this year.

The remainder of the squad reports a week later.

Cincinnati, the first National League team in 54 years to repeat as world champs, launch their 25-game Grapefruit League schedule beginning March 12 against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The schedule includes games with American League Western Division champ Kansas City (March 14 and 19), the AL champion New York Yankees on March 27, and the National League Eastern Division champion

Philadelphia Phils on April 3. They face NL West archrival Los Angeles twice, March 23 and 24.

The Reds finished 7-7 in exhibition play last spring. The abbreviated schedule as a result of a 17-day lockout because of a contract dispute between the owners and players.

Coleman To Speak At Safety Congress

Nelson Coleman, American Garden-Cole, Circleville, will address the Arborists and Tree Service Operators Section of the 47th All-Ohio Safety Congress and Exhibit to be held April 12, 13, and 14 at the Sheraton Columbus Motor Hotel in Columbus.

In keeping with this year's Congress theme "Pair Up For Safety in '77 — Labor and Management," the speakers represent all phases of employer-employee relations dealing with safety and health in the workplace.

Purpose of the Congress, the largest single-state safety convention in the nation, is to assist the several thousand industrial accident — and disease-prevention specialists who attend each year to upgrade their professional expertise. To this end there are some 50 specialized section meetings, showings of the latest safety and health films, equipment and techniques, and numerous formal and informal gatherings where attendees can exchange information with their colleagues.

The Congress is sponsored by The Industrial Commission of Ohio and its Division of Safety and health films, equipment and techniques, and numerous formal and informal gatherings where attendees can exchange information with their colleagues.

The Congress is sponsored by The Industrial Commission of Ohio and its Division of Safety and Hygiene. It is open to the public and registration is free.

Fire Damages Market, Home

Fire destroyed a rural Orient home Wednesday night and was blamed for considerable damage to Berry's Market in Tarlton, according to reports at the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

The Harrisburg Fire Department battled the blaze at the 13210 Carson Road, Orient, home of Roy Woods 10:21 p.m. Wednesday.

Woods was treated at an area hospital for burns he suffered while trying to fight the fire, Deputy Sheriff Danny Dewey said.

Faulty wiring is the suspected cause of the blaze, which destroyed 80 per cent of the interior of the dwelling and all its contents.

The house is owned by Fred Trembell, Mt. Sterling.

A trash fire outside Berry's Market caused an estimated $10,000 damage to the structure, according to Deputy Sheriff Billy Huffman.

The Saltcreek Township Fire Department extinguished the blaze, which began about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Heat generated from the burning trash apparently caused blocks to separate along a wall, the Deputy said.
